

York Plowmen To Fore Win Overseas Trips In Woodstock Matches

Twenty-four York County plowmen competed successfully at the International Plowing Match at Woodstock last week and carried off most of the major awards, including two overseas trips, a first and second in the two inter-county contests for teams of two boys, and the two top cash awards by one of the machinery companies, 12 firsts and 10 seconds and 26 other prizes.

The most coveted prizes, the two Esso overseas trips for the best lands, were won by Norman Tyndall of Richmond Hill in the tractor class and Eugene Timbers of Milliken in walking plows. Eugene's father, Ed. Timbers, won an overseas trip the first year they were awarded by a tea company but with the outbreak of war, was given cash in lieu of the trip. Eugene was a member of the county team this year. Norman Tyndall, son of a pioneer plowman, Stanley Tyndall of Richmond Hill, is president of the York County Junior Farmers.

In the keenly contested inter-county competitions, Agricultural Representative W. M. Cockburn had teams of two boys entered in each. On Thursday, Eugene Timbers and Merle Timbers of Aurora nosed out Haldimand for top place and on Friday, the York boys, Bruce Timbers and Howard Doner of Stouffville, took second place between Haldimand and Ontario County in a class of 18 entries (36 boys). York boys plowed even scoring lands with only half a point between them.

The dark horse of the York plowmen was 20-year-old Howard Doner of Stouffville who, though plowing in his first match, won his class of 29 entries on Wednesday and on Thursday took the red ribbon with 54 plowmen in his class — many with years of experience, Howard was coached by that veteran Wreckage of a dump truck lies in railway ditch a mile and a quarter south of Pine Orchard after being hit by a C.N.R. Diesel last Friday. Vern Pegg, driver of truck which was used for hauling gravel from Mount Albert district to Barrie highway, was taken to York County hospital. It was discovered that his back was fractured; he returned home Tuesday in a cast. Era-Express photo.

Escapes Wreckage When Diesel Crashes Truck At Bad Crossing

Vern Pegg, 23, of Mount Albert, narrowly escaped death shortly before noon last Friday when his truck was hit by a C.N.R. diesel south west of Cedar Valley. Pegg was driving a truck owned by Shea's Haulage, Toronto, a firm engaged in trucking gravel from Mount Albert to the new Barrie highway.

He was driving an empty dump-truck at the time. A northbound train smashed into him at a crossing on Clement's sideroad, a mile and a quarter south of Pine Orchard. The truck was carried over 100 feet and hurled into a ditch.

The impact tore the dump box and rear wheels from the chassis and the roof of the driver's cab was crushed down almost to the level of the hood. By the time the truck came to rest in the ditch along the track, Pegg was cramped under the crushed roof of the cab.

He was taken to York County hospital, suffering from shock and a cut in the back of his head. Later x-rays showed that his back was fractured. He returned home Tuesday but will be in a cast for eight weeks.

Visibility is poor at the sideroad crossing where Pegg was hit, particularly the southward view from an eastbound vehicle. Gravel trucks have been using the sideroad continuously during the construction of the Barrie highway.

The Township of Whitechurch Federation of Agriculture recently urged that action be taken to make this crossing and others in the township safer for drivers. The resolution of protest was sent to township council some time before this accident. It was forwarded to the board of transport commissioners. No action was taken, however.

BUSINESSMEN PLAN INFORMAL GROUP

Luncheon meetings will be held the first and third Mondays of each month at the King George Hotel at 1 p.m. The next meeting is Nov. 5. All businessmen are invited.

CONSERVATION MEETING

The first meeting of the Upper Holland River Conservation Authority will be held in Newmarket on Tuesday, Oct. 30. Reeve Arthur D. Evans was appointed Newmarket's representative on the authority. Whitcomb township appointed Lambert Wilson as representative.

Lack Of Cash Cripples Civil Defence Effort

TOWN BUYS BOOK ON ASSESSMENTS

The town of Newmarket is spending $22 to buy a text book on municipal assessments. The author of the book is a Mr. Manning who lives in Forest Hill village.

"I don't think we could spend $22 in a better way. This is an excellent book," said Deputy-Reeve J. L. Spillette.

"With that book we may be able to prevent such a 'shmozzle' like we had two or three years ago," commented Councillor Jos. Dales.

FLAG DOWN TRAIN, SAVE HORSES, VAN STALLED ON TRACK

A horse van owned by G. C. Hendrie, a director of the Ontario Jockey Club, stalled in front of an oncoming freight train on Tuesday at a level crossing two miles east of Aurora on the Cosforth sideroad.

Two men in the van jumped out and flagged the train down. Three brood mares were removed from the van, which was then lifted off the crossing with a jack.

The van was taking the mares to a farm near Aurora.

PROMOTES VISITS BETWEEN ENGLISH, FRENCH FAMILIES

Mlle. Charlotte Clement, Quebec City, addressed both Newmarket and Aurora high school students last week on behalf of "Visites Interprovinciales".

"Visites Interprovinciales" is a private bureau for the development of better relations between French and English speaking Canadians. It arranges French-speaking families to receive English-speaking students as members of their family for some weeks during the summer and for English-speaking families to receive French-speaking students.

In 1936 the first summer, three visits were arranged and by 1949 there were 400 visits. Educated families of one language have formed friendly relationships with families of the other language.

"Visites Interprovinciales" wishes to hear from families interested in such arrangements, either in sending or receiving students in the summer. The bureau puts interested families in touch with each other and supplies all the confidential information possible.

AT CONVENTION

Eric D. Johnston, Jr., D.O., osteopathic physician, is attending a post-graduate course October 17-20, at the fifth annual International Osteopathic Convention at Chatham. One of the speakers is Dr. Phillips, minister of health for Ontario. Other speakers are prominent medical and osteopathic physicians from Canada and the United States.

V.L.A. COURSES

As a continuation of courses held for the past two years, the V.L.A. will again give courses in home-building and V.L.A. regulations. Enrollment and first meeting will be Wednesday, Oct. 24, at Newmarket high school, at 7:30 p.m. Ten lectures will probably be held, conducted by local V.L.A. men. These courses are a dominion-wide scheme and much enthusiasm has been shown for them in the past.

"There is a tug of war going on between three levels of government over finances for civil defence," Reeve Arthur D. Evans told members of Newmarket council Monday night. The reeve said there are not adequate funds available to support a full civil defence program.

"I don't know how far a municipality can go on civil defence spending under the present taxation system," he said. Newmarket included $500 for possible expenditures for civil defence in its budget this year.

He said that there is a skeleton structure for a defence organization in York County but when it comes down to it, municipalities cannot go ahead with a program without sufficient funds.

Reeve Evans pointed out that Hon. Paul Martin told the Conference of Mayors and Reeves that Canada has a three-fold defence: strengthening the armed forces, defence production and civil defence. "It looks to me like it is the responsibility of the federal government for civil defence spending," he said.

It is understood that the present responsibilities on the federal government for civil defence include the provision of advance warning systems and devices in target areas; the provision of civil defence research staff courses, training equipment and technical instruments; payment of one-third of the cost of materials for standardizing fire hose couplings; and stockpiling in strategic locations across Canada of medical supplies and equipment.

Municipal responsibilities include preparations in certain designated communities to defend their own citizens and property against enemy attack and preparations by all communities to provide assistance for victims of enemy attack in other centres.

Last July Newmarket was named "control centre" for the "reception area" north of Richmond Hill in the Toronto and York civil defence organization.

Under the arrangement, municipalities in the reception area are to be concerned with provision of fire and police services in the event of enemy attack on the target area, which is Toronto, and will also be responsible for billeting and feeding refugees.

"The point is, how far can a municipality go in paying the cost of civil defence?" Mr. Evans asked. "The fire brigade and the police force need special instruction. Although the federal government offers free instruction at courses held in Ottawa, the municipality must pay travelling expenses, lodging and wages of volunteer firemen and others, off work a week or more, taking the instruction. Then there is the matter of the cost of insuring volunteer workers."

Various town organizations have offered to take an active part in civil defence here but they have been denied any participation so far. The Legion, Canadian Corps, firemen and others have made representation to council about starting the defence work.

"But we can't use them until some liaison work is done," said Mr. Evans.

End Second Bus Route This Saturday Night

The Newmarket Bus Lines have announced this week that they will end a second town bus service which was started last March 1. The route served the north west part of town, Gorham St. and Second St. south.

Larry Needler represented the Newmarket Bus Lines at a meeting of town council Monday night. The bus line has a 10-year franchise and in the agreement, changes in route are subject to the approval of council.

"The route has not been paying for itself," he said. "We have had regular passengers on the route during the eight months it has been operating but the volume of passengers did not pick up as we had expected."

Last Saturday 184 persons used the bus which brought in little over $14. The bus operates 16 hours a day.

There was talk in council of a municipal subsidy to keep the line going as a public service. Deputy-Reeve Spillette told of some municipalities which make up for the loss on bus lines in suburban sections but council did not consider a subsidy seriously.

"It was understood that this route would be added as an experiment in the first place," said Mr. Spillette. "It did not work out, it could be dropped by council approval." Electors voted for the bus franchise last year but there was no stipulation for routes in the vote.

Mr. Needler said that the only sections which will not have the service as before, are around Pickering College and the north west part of town. As an experiment, Gorham St. will be served by the original town route starting Monday.

The second bus route will end on Saturday night at 11 o'clock.

LEGION OPENS APPEAL

A Poppy For Remembrance

William LaParde, chairman of the Newmarket Canadian Legion Poppy Fund committee, said this week that canvassers had already begun the annual Poppy Day campaign with calls upon places of business for orders for Remembrance Day wreaths. The canvass will be completed on Saturday, Nov. 10, when Poppy Day will be observed.

The need this year is greater than ever, said Mr. LaParde. "We hope there will be 100 per cent response to this cause."

The money raised by the sale of poppies and wreaths is used by the Legion to provide financial help to veterans. While the Poppy Fund is a national appeal, the money raised in the Newmarket appeal is used in Newmarket.

But the raising of emergency funds is only one part of the Legion's national campaign. The other objective, equally important, is to see that every citizen in Newmarket has a Poppy to wear in silent remembrance of those who lost their lives in two world wars.

John Armstrong, of Newmarket, who was wounded on patrol in Korea on September 24, is now in Tokio Army Hospital. He was temporarily paralyzed but last word said that he was to undergo an operation for the removal of a bullet in his back, believed to be causing the paralysis.

Of the one I loved so much. Always remembered by her husband David. We do not need a special day to

IT'S A Woman's World

BY CAROLINE ION

Did you see the Princess? Is she as lovely as the papers have been telling us? And what of Philip, Duke of Edinburgh? Is he the "Prince Charming" from our childhood fairy tales?

These questions and many more were being asked over the weekend following the Royal couple's memorable visit to Toronto. We could answer them all in the affirmative. With many thousands of other parents we took our oldest son to Queen's Park to await the arrival of the motorcade at Hart House.

It was a beautiful day. The sun was shining. A light breeze lifted the leaves from the lawns.

Everywhere there was sunshine in people's faces as they waited in anticipation of a view of Princess Elizabeth and her tall, blonde husband. Little children wore their best suits and dresses. Stubbish shocks of hair, the aftermath of summer crews, protruded from under unaccustomed Eton caps.

Lining the procession route at this section were members of Royal Canadian Medical Corps, stationed at Camp Borden. Many a chest was decorated with the campaign ribbons of World War 2 and a few had ones from the war of '14-18. We noticed the Lt. Col. of the regiment proudly wearing the Military Cross as he inspected his men shortly before the scheduled arrival of the Royal party.

It was with mixed feelings that many of these men awaited their Princess. They had risen that morning at 4 o'clock. Their boots, gleaming in the sunlight and their immaculate uniforms told of the many hours involved in their preparations.

A young ex-naval couple to our left had reversed that pattern, having gone to bed shortly after 5 a.m. They had attended the Trafalgar Ball the preceding evening and had followed it up with a breakfast party. Disappointed at not having seen Princess Elizabeth and the Duke of Edinburgh at the ball, they had crawled out of bed a few hours later to witness them at Queen's Park and Hart House.

At Hart House, the carillon rang out a joyous welcome to the Royal couple. From other university buildings or neighboring churches rang out other bells. The mounted officers of the Toronto Police force made a last minute inspection of the section of route deputized to their care. A police cruiser passed, circulating the word that the wait was almost over. The royal car had passed University Ave.

Suddenly, there they were. The car rounded the crescent. The Princess graciously acknowledged the applause of her subjects with a charming smile and a wave of her hand which was so reminiscent of her mother's gesture. Prince Philip waved to one and all, very obviously enjoying the entire proceedings.

We could not help but feel that she looked very weary. Just as the Royal car came abreast with our group, Princess Elizabeth leaned over and spoke to her husband. At that moment she seemed more relaxed and together they shared some private conversation.

Later, after being greeted at Hart House by the chancellor of the university, Hon. Vincent Massey, President Sydney Smith and other dignitaries, they entered the Great Hall for a brief ceremony. About 15 minutes later the Royal party, accompanied by these and other government officials as well as the Mounties in their brilliant uniforms, walked from Hart House to Queen's Park Crescent.

The crowds that had gathered at this spot gave a tumultuous cheer as the Royal party approached. We were very fortunate in having an excellent view of this section of the procession. We had time to admire the Princess's beautiful rich blue ensemble with the feathered hat, close fitting her head. Of her shoes, that controversial subject, we could see nothing.

As they entered the lieutenant-governor's suite at Queen's Park by the bunting and flag-draped west door, the Royal pair waved again to the cheering throngs. They stopped on the private stairway leading to the suite and again acknowledged the crowd's warm welcome.

Once the couple had disappeared, the crowd began to chant, "We want the Princess. We want the Princess." Twice, this conscientious, slim young woman appeared at the window. The roar of the crowd was deafening.

A short time later, the Duke of Edinburgh came running down the private stairway, stopping at each of the openings to wave to the people. He grinned broadly and striding across the short distance to the car continued to wave. Upon entering the luxurious convertible, he turned about in a complete circle and then with another broad smile, he was off to the Royal York hotel for the Toronto Board of Trade luncheon.

News Of The W.I.

News for this column must be in the office Monday night. Copy must be written as briefly as possible and confined to news and reports. Other than routine reports and announcements will be printed separately.

The Vandorf branch bus trip to Toronto Oct. 11 was a great success. Thirty-nine ladies left Vandorf 9 a.m., travelling down the 4th concession to Steele's Ave., and via Yonge St. to the Royal Ontario Museum. We were fortunate in having an instructive lady guide who made the visit so beneficial to all of us. At 11:30 we had arranged to have our lunch in the museum snack bar. It consisted of a choice of vegetable soup and crackers or tomato juice, ham or egg sandwiches, choice of peach, apple or raisin pie with ice cream, tea, coffee or milk. At 12:30 p.m. we boarded our bus to reach the Happy Gang by 12:45 p.m. where we enjoyed the music and relaxation.

Leaving there at 1:50 p.m., we reached the Hospital for Sick Children at 2 o'clock when we divided into groups with lady members of the auxiliary as our guides. Our visit there was most interesting and we should be very proud to know we have the finest and best equipped hospital of its kind situated in the centre of our domain.

It was sad to see some of the little children with their handicaps but when one sees the efficiency of the care they are given we know it is the very best. Leaving the hospital at 3 p.m. we were taken to the parliament buildings and were surprisingly received by our North York member of parliament, Major A. A. Mackenzie. Each member was given an envelope of pamphlets and pictures referring to different departments of the province and a puzzle of the map of Ontario. After being ushered to the members' seats by Mr. White, the husband of one of our members, Mr. Day, the guide of 30 years' service in the buildings, gave us a very interesting talk on the history of the parliament buildings.

It time had allowed we would have been taken to all places of interest throughout the building. But the bus was waiting and we journeyed to our respective homes giving special thanks to Mrs. Harold Dewsbury, branch convener of historical research and current events, for making our trip possible.

The Queensville branch will meet on Wednesday, Oct. 24, at 2 p.m. in the United church basement. Motto: "We live our lives once; there are no rehearsals." Roll call: Institute memories. Program: Mount Albert Women's Institute will provide the program. Hostesses: Every member provides.

Members, please plan to attend when we are entertaining Mount Albert.

Lakeside branch will hold its monthly meeting in Keswick memorial hall Oct. 23 at 8 p.m. Subjects for the evening are historical research and current events. All are welcome. Come and bring a friend.

The regular monthly meeting of Aurora branch will be held Thursday evening, Oct. 25, at 8 p.m., at the home of Mrs. V. Fines, Yonge St. North. Roll call: "What's your beef?" The program is in charge of Mrs. H. Anderson, convener of community activities and public relations. Hostesses are Mrs. F. Smith, Mrs. H. Foster and Miss Hanner.

The Mount Albert branch met in the community hall on Thursday, Oct. 11. The president, Mrs. Donald Stiver, was in the chair. The roll call, "What improvements I would like in my kitchen," was answered by 28 members. Seven visitors were present.

Mrs. G. W. E. MacPherson invited the Institute to her home for the November meeting. A committee was appointed to see about a quilt for the Salada tea quilt competition. It was decided to cater at a turkey supper for the Mount Albert girls' baseball team in November. A card party will be held in the hall on Tuesday, Nov. 13.

Convener of home economics and health, Mrs. Harold Broad-erick, introduced Mrs. Clair Powell and her friend, Mrs. Slater, Vandorf, who gave a demonstration on table setting. Ruth Styles sang a lovely solo "Whispering Hope." The meeting closed with "God Save the King." Refreshments were served by Mrs. D. Shillinglaw, Mrs. George Walsh and Mrs. Harvey Leck.

The October meeting of Gormley branch will be at the home of Mrs. Herb Moorby Oct. 25. (Please note change of day.) Motto: "Life is like a garden; it bears the fruit you sow," given by Mrs. R. Bayeroff.

Roll call is suggestions for postponing old age. The King branch will be our guests and will provide the program. Also this is the meeting to bring the gift for our adopted French boy. Everyone provide.

In the near future, a rectangular-shaped hammered aluminum serving tray will be forwarded to the Women's Institute of Klee St. Margaret, Shropshire, England, the gift of King City branch. It is being made by Mr. Wilfred Bowes of Maple, brother of Mrs. Austin Rumble, vice-president of the local organization. His wife, Irene, will do the inscription work. The gift is an acknowledgement of a beautiful hand-embroidered luncheon cloth brought to the King City branch early this summer by Mrs. Dennis Pearce, a member of St. Margaret's. King City is pleased to send a hand-made Canadian product to its sister English Institute.

Institute members are reminded to attend the District Service, entitled "We Call It Human Nature," conducted by Miss McBride, at Aurora United church parlors on Friday, Oct. 19, at 1:30 p.m. to 4 o'clock.

There were many places of interest mentioned by members of Laskay branch W.I. in reply to the roll call at the October meeting, held in the hall with Mrs. William Ham as hostess. Some of these were England, the Pacific Coast, Ottawa, Casa Loma in Toronto, and Australia where Mrs. Leslie Glass would like to travel to visit her pen pal there with whom she has kept up correspondence for 21 years and has never met.

Miss Winifred Boys explained the motto, "Do not be discouraged, it is often the last key that opens the door." With a free land, abundance of food, and all material needs and friends, there is no cause for discouragement, she said. Just keep on "doing the job," and things will turn out right.

The president, Mrs. Norman Egan, and Mrs. Norman Etheridge were appointed convention delegates. The branch decided that the proceeds from the current W.I. dances and the forthcoming bazaar be used toward the building fund of Laskay Institute hall. The bazaar falls on Nov. 10.

King Ridge W.I. met at the home of Mrs. E. Fry on Tuesday, Oct. 2. Eleven members and one visitor were present.

As we are a newly formed W.I. it was decided that all our members who could, would go to the annual convention to be held in the Royal York early in November for one day instead of sending just one delegate, as this would be of greater benefit because most of our members are quite new to the work of our organization.

It was also decided to hold our meetings during the winter from 8-10 p.m. as all our members could attend when their husbands were home to stay with the children.

A paper was given by Mrs. E. Fry, assisted by Mrs. J. T. Jones and Mrs. J. C. Scott, on the history of our community. Much discussion followed as all our members are greatly interested in the history of their surroundings.

A short reading was given by Mrs. P. W. Ball.

Our travelling library has arrived and is being kept at the home of Mrs. N. Sproule. Library hours are from 3-5 p.m. and all evening on Wednesdays of each week.

Haskett's HASH

by GEORGE HASKETT
Newmarket Sports Editor

The governor put the axe to us last week - so we're in a week late. Your scribe pleased as a kid with his first two wheeler to see the lights go on. Even the weather man turned the calendar back to mid-summer and the way you folks dug - 90 buck collection - proves what we've always maintained: Newmarket fandom, if they see some characters trying to better the Hub sport scene, will put their shoulder to the wheel.

Of course, we're not out of the Fair Grounds is to be done up right. To move grandstand will pinch you for another 800 cabbages. While we're at it, might as well do it up right. What say? Yours truly and the floodlight board, Chairman Charlie VanZant, vice-assister Topper, jackholder Ken Flett, wish to thank one and all for their voluntary assistance in bucks and labor. That's what got the job done.

For opening send-off, doff chapeaus for the four ball crews with special thank you to our western visitors, Schomberg, headed by sports-minded "Pike" Cabell, Elgin Hastings, Art Walker and Al Stephenson, the town league all-stars, Bell and Specialty.

Then there's chief mike man, Jim Walker, and Stewart Beare, television expert, who loaned speaker equipment, John Macnab, for donation of softballs, the four-man umpiring staff of Barney Revell, Dutch Forhan, Ernie Miller and Bill Haskett, and our cash collectors, Eddie Gibson, Norm Tunney, Harold LaPlante and Al Apps.

Last but not least, guys and gals who gave the fund a $90 lift. It marked, as we've said before, a major step forward in putting the Hub up front in the North York sport picture.

Hits, runs, errors: In case you haven't realized it, we've got a ball club putting Newmarket on the map. It's our pee-wees, sponsored by the Optimist Club. Our gallant band is now in all-Ontario O.B.A. finals. Game one was a loss to Petrolia. Coach Hollingsworth is drilling them steadily under the lights this week for Saturday's must win test. Maybe, just maybe, they can stage a comeback and bring the Hub its first O.B.A. crown in history.

Optimist bantams, season long without regular competition, were ousted by Acton. Regular competition is necessary to develop a good ball team. This phase should be attended to another year. With Bradford showing signs of a hardball revival and along with Aurora, Stouffville, Richmond Hill and Newmarket, could form a minor ball loop. It's food for thought this winter.

Cuff notes: Andy Closs no sooner drops his softball tools than he's into hockey full swing. Aurora juniors will start regular practices this week. There's a welcome hand out for all district juniors and Hubtown stick-toters in particular reports bossman Closs. Listening fellows? Two local lads who aren't likely to be around to aid the Closs cause are Murray MacDonald and Bill Smith. They've hooked on with Red Mitchell's Lindsay entry.

Moe Walsh, former townsman, veteran referee, one time Vet softball ace, gets his chance in the big time this winter. Moe is scheduled to work some of the N.H.L. games. Final statistics from Viaduct baseball circuit - one of Toronto's finest - shows everybody's friend, Loring "Silent" Doolittle, finished sixteenth in the batting race with a .333 mark. Nice going Dooey.

Apologies: In our recent wind-up of the Lake Simcoe Junior Ladies League, we missed Betty Meyers and Jean Rolling off the twice championship winning Mounties. Sorry gals.

In the bantam baseball jousts with Acton we found Bill Holloway, Len Simmons' right hand man when North York League flourished, is still active in the big diamond sport with Acton minors. Ran across Sonny Townsley, a stick-handling whizz back in the days when the Hub boasted one of the strongest homebrew crews in the province, at Acton too. The hockey gear is put away, reports Sonny. Son Harold is having a trial spin with Washington in U.S. Eastern League.

Jack "Long Jaw" Andrews is back in Aurora after a try-out with Buffalo's American League squad. Go out and grab him, men. The rugged, bashing defenseman would look mighty good in a Spitfire sweater. Normie Stunden, tops in our books as the number one district net-minder, is still on the open market and the same we're told is true of Sonny Rowntree at Woodbridge, one of the county's better pivot men.

One hockey minded chap gives out with an idea. We're out for the intermediate crown - let's drop the Spitfire handle - get back under the "Redmen" banner. We won one championship thataway and this could be our year again.

Mount Albert Ladies for a second straight year won the Lake Simcoe Junior Ladies Softball League championship. The Mounties lost only two games during the regular season and collected the crown and the Taylor Beale Trophy in three straight wins over Newmarket "Pin-ups". Back row, l. to r. Lois Morrison, ss. Town League sport received a tremendous lift this year with the announcement that the Newmarket Manufacturers Association would present trophies for softball, hockey and bowling. Last Wednesday the Association presented their new "Newmarket Manufacturers Association Town League Softball Trophy" to the Newmarket Taximen, town league winners, at a banquet in King George Hotel. ## Town League Ball Champions Given Ash Tray Mementoes

To mark their winning of the town league crown, the Triple Seven Taximen were guests of the Newmarket Manufacturers Association last Wednesday. Top billing of the very fine evening was the presentation of the new and handsome Newmarket Manufacturers' Association Trophy.

President Arthur Carson made the presentation to manager Cyril Keats. Each player on the winning team received a silver baseball ash-tray with his name engraved on it. Those honored were Herb Cain, Art Dobbie, Harv. Gibney, Alvin McKnight, Jerry Hugo, Bruce Townsley, Jack Baldson, Norm. Legge, Wayne Robinson, manager Cyril Keats and team sponsors, Larry Needler and Earlby Ruthven. Bill McComb and Don. Brice were absentees.

Town league officials present were president Jack Teasdale, vice-president A. H. Topham, and secretary Harold LaPlante. Members of the Manufacturers Association present were Arthur Carson, Frank Courtney, D. J. Hutchings, Jim Gairdner, G. L. Manning, D. J. Kuhns, Henry Moore, Bill Young.

A.H.S., N.H.S. Gridders Fight It Out for Crown

Beaverton has withdrawn from the North York Secondary Schools football conference. Sutton intends to remain in but will play only against Newmarket and Aurora seconds. That leaves it strictly a two-way scrap between Frank Gregoire's Aurora high and Fred Speer's "Purple and Gold" for the North York senior football title.

The two teams will settle the championship best two of three. They're not wasting any time in getting down to business in the finals. The first game has been scheduled at Aurora Friday, Oct. 19. Return game will be played at Newmarket, Oct. 29. Site of the third game, if required, will be decided later.

Schedule in the Newmarket, Aurora, Sutton "Seconds" series is: Oct. 26, Aurora at Sutton; Oct. 31, Sutton at Aurora; Nov. 5, Newmarket at Sutton.

ICE EARLY NEXT WEEK
No definite date for the opening of the arena for hockey and skating has been set. Barring unforeseen difficulties, flooding operations should start this week and ice should be available by the first of next week, reports arena manager Stan Smith.

Only Two Teams Show Resched Town Puck Meet

Only two teams appear interested in town league hockey, Office Specialty and Town Atomies. At least, they were the only two represented at Town League organization meeting scheduled for Tuesday evening. Present at the meeting were pres., Charles VanZant; sec., Bill Ingram; Office Specialty representative, Peter Neufeld; and Geo. Haskett.

The meeting has been rescheduled for Wednesday, Oct. 21, at 7 p.m. in the arena. An invitation is being extended to Mount Albert and Vandonr to send representatives. It is hoped to round out a league of two local teams and two teams from the district.

900 See Final Mat Card, Eric, Lord Athol Tie

Three high grade scraps featured the final wrestling card at the arena Thursday. Approximately 900 fans attended. In the main bout, Yukon Eric gave his usual display of extraordinary strength but the north country's strong man had to be content with a draw with Lord Athol Layton.

Layton was the winner of the first fall, after 16 minutes, with his famed octopus hold. Yukon made a fast recovery to take fall two with his bear hug after eight minutes. The pair of top notchers ran the string out without breaking the deadlock but did have the fans in an uproar most of the way.

Timothy Geohagen of Ireland came to grips with Dan O'Connor in the semi-final. Geohagen pinned his adversary after 15 minutes with his Irish Sleeper specialty. In the preliminary Toar Morgan loused up the scrip by getting disqualified after 15 minutes of heavy going. Referee Bert Maxwell raising Pat Flanagan's right wing in token of victory.

AURORA MEETING POSTPONED

No new developments in the Aurora Town Hockey League picture. The planned meeting last Sunday to discuss entries and players' list had to be postponed as not enough delegates were present. "We hope to meet this week sometime," reports newly elected president Jim Murray.

BUS SEATS STILL AVAILABLE

Optimist pee-wee baseballers will travel to Petrolia for the second game of the Ontario O. B. A. finals Saturday by bus. There are a few seats still available. Any fans interested in making the trip can secure tickets from Don Warner, phone 825. Return fare is $3. Recreation Commission have made a grant to the team to help defray part of the bus cost.

A.H.S. Takes Action 6-0 'Bring on Newmarket'

Prepping for their impending clashes with Fred Speer's N.H.S. gridiron machine for the North York title, Frank Gregoire's ever-improving Aurora high school squad thumped Alliston 6-0 in an exhibition football clash at Aurora last Friday.

The northern invaders, no push-overs, recently staked out wins over Midland and Barrie Collegiates. Aurora lost no time in going to work. They opened with an aerial offensive and a sharp ground attack to push the yardsticks 75 yards downfield on successive downs.

Ron Geddes culminated the mounting fury of the attack with an 8-yard plunge for the lone TD. Charlie "Duke" DeLaHay booted the convert.

Aurora line play also came in for honor marks, particularly in the final quarter, as they staved off three Alliston bucks one yard out as the visitors attempted to tie the score.

"The team looked good; I think we can give Newmarket a scrap for the North York title," reports Coach Gregoire.

Aurora: C. DeLaHay, K. Kincaid, D. Wilson, N. Elthridge, L. Easterbrook, P. VanNostrand, R. Geddes, D. Bushy, J. Langdon, G. Edwards, F. Harrison, D. Harrison, D. Morning, B. Andrews, M. Clark, T. McClellan, D. Backly, J. Richards, R. Starkey, J. Gilbert, B. Rae, T. Hulme, B. McGirr, J. Howey, J. Crysdale.

Vandorf Looking for Hockey Competition

Officials of the Vandorf Hockey Club for the coming season are R. B. Brown, president, Lawrence Hennessey, secretary, Harry Lavender was named manager and Clayton Pogue assistant. As yet, a coach hasn't been named. This is expected to be remedied at a meeting this week.

Vandorf won the Lake Simcoe League championship last winter and entered the O.R.I.A. intermediate playdowns, being eliminated by Stroud.

"Our club would like to get regular action this winter. Has the Newmarket Town League an opening?" enquires Mr. Lavender. How about it, men?

Town League Winds Up With Banquet For 60

The Town League football season officially closed Friday night when approximately 60 members of the six town league teams banqueted at the Legion Hall. President Jack Tassdale welcomed the players, coaches and managers and passed along a vote of thanks for the splendid cooperation the league had received from all the teams.

Arthur Carson, Newmarket Manufacturers Association president, was guest speaker. Mr. Carson said the association was greatly interested in the promotion of town league sports and had donated a trophy for annual town league competition, and would also donate similar trophies for hockey and bowling. The event was voted a wholehearted success.

Schomberg won the Peel-York Softball League title by defeating Woodbridge. In their hunt for their third O.R.S.A. intermediate title, they reached the third round before being eliminated by Eramosa. The Bergers also could file a good claim for the mythical North York Softball League championship claiming victories over Markham, Cookstown and Newmarket "all stars" in post season games. ## Schomberg Shows Form At Floodlights Opener

Any doubts that Schomberg has a good claim on the mythical North York Softball title were dispelled before close to 1,000 fans last week at the fair grounds. The Bergers, visitors here as part of the floodlight opener, unlimbered for five runs in round one and went on to hold out for a 7-5 win over the town league all-stars.

The invaders collected their big take off hits by Barney McCabe, Doug. Brown, Walt Thompson and Don Rainey, plus three walks and an error served up by starter Art Dobbie.

Town leaguers jumped back with a three-run getaway frame. Bill Johnston stroled as a starter, Bruce Townsley singled while Herb Cain and Jerry Hugo put solid wood to Ken Ellison pitches for doubles. The Bergers clipped another tally in the fourth on a walk and error but from there on, were putty in the hands of Bill VanZant who came in to relieve Art Dobbie.

Walt Thompson collected the only solid hit off Bill VanZant, a home run smash in the ninth.

Town stars counted twice in the fifth, rounded out by Norm Legge's and Laurie Thoms' double and a second base error. The town leaguers had the stage set to tie it up in the eighth at 6-6 but it disappeared as Charlie XVanZant was nipped at the platter.

Walt Thompson and Don Rainey headed Pike Cabell's hit-smiths with two each. Town leaguers out-belted the Bergers 11-0. Bruce Townsley, Jerry Hugo and Fred Dillman heading the parade with a pair each.

Schomberg: Doug. Marchant, B. McCabe, D. Brown, M. Edwards, W. Thompson, D. Rainey, Don Marchant, D. Aitcheson, K. Ellison.

Town League all-stars: W. Johnston, B. Townsley, N. Legge, H. Cain, M. Smith, J. Hugo, L. Thoms, F. Dillman, A. Dobbie, W. VanZant, J. Hisey.

Triple Seven Players Take Most Berths On All-Stars

Newmarket Taximen placed five of their hired hands on the town league all-star nine. Pete Neufeld's Specialty men snapped up three positions and Bell Telephone captured the other berth.

Bob Murray's Hoffman entrant, out of the finals, clicked for four places on the second team, the Cabmen and Bell, two each. Two veterans of the softball campaign, and over past years battery mates, Charlie Miller, Pete Neufeld and Bill "Joint" McComb headed the poll with 15 points each. Cab-

First Team	Position	Second Team
Chas. VanZant (15) (Spec)	Catcher	Herb Cain (6) (777)
Bill McComb (15) (777)	Pitcher	Bill VanZant (6) (Hoff)
Harv Gibney (9) (777)	first base	Mickey Smith (8) (Bell)
J. Brammer (10) (Spec)	second base	Fred Dillman (5) (Hoff)

Bill Johnston (11) (Bell)	outfield	Don Brice (7) (777)
John Hisey (9) (Spec)	outfield	Jack Tassdale (7) (Bell)

Third team would be Hank VanZant c, John Sheddwick p, Bruce Andrews 1b, Stan Evans and Alvie McKnight tied for 2b, outfield Laurie Thoms, Don Hurch, Bill Smith.

Installation costs on the recently completed floodlighted diamond at the Fair Grounds were shaved to the bare minimum by the work of volunteers. Chiefly responsible for getting the lights turned on was the work of three of our town hydro employees. After the poles, cross-arms and lights were mounted, they took over to wire, connect and aim the lights. It saved the floodlight committee countless dollars. Seen above are the hydro employees who did this work, left to right, Bob Walker, Wendell Gilbert, and Cephas Andrews. (Photo by Haskett)

Tennis Club Plans Spring Elections

Newmarket Tennis Club, which has made a habit of electing their officers each fall for the next season, will hold their elections next spring. That was the gist of the information passed out by president Dr. John Dales after a get-together of the tennis enthusiasts at the close up meeting of the year.

"We finished up the season with a little money on hand and it seemed the general opinion of those present that it would be better to wait until tennis got rolling in the spring before electing our officials," reports President Dales.

FRACTURES FINGER
Herb Cain, Triple Sevens receiver, working behind the plate for the Town League all-stars, was the only casualty in last Thursday's double-header floodlight opener. X-rays revealed Friday that Herb had suffered a fractured middle finger on his right hand in attempting to catch a sizzling foul tip. He'll be lost to the all-stars when they play the return engagement with Schomberg at Schomberg

Cubs Have First Ice Work-out

Aurora Cubs took to the ice on Monday night at Aurora arena with Charlie Rowntree and Andy Closs Sr. at the helm. About 15 players were out and the number was small because of the uncertainty of the freezing system at Aurora in recent days. Tonight at seven o'clock another workout will be held.

The ice on Monday was poor through no fault of Billy Muddell who is doing a good job at the arena. The fact is that for two weeks now, at a cost said to be in four figures already, engineers have been trying to solve the mechanical defects which are keeping the south side of the arena only half-frozen. Muddell hopes they'll have it solved by then and he can give the team a good sheet of ice as well as nab some of those bookings already lost.

It was Tom Dickson himself who predicted no ice until November, which we mentioned last week, and maybe so far as a good surface is concerned he's right. At any event the ice that is there provides conditioning and skating, at a time when the boys are getting a little anxious for action. All is quiet with the Aurora management about players, but confidentially, here are some of the boys who are counted upon: Paul Maguire, the '50 netwinner, is the No. 1 goal candidate but Burke of Newmarket will give him a stretch run, while Walt Downing and "Nobby" Bohne, who were scouted in the T.H.L. games, will also be on hand with possibly Weedon of Kettleby.

The forward and defence situation is somewhat jumbled as many of the lads can play either at the blue-line or in front. From the 1951 squad, Andy Closs Jr., looking better than ever, Grant Edwards, Don Munshaw, Walt Fines, Bob Cook, Artie Barler, red-thatched centre star, Don Egan, Stew Wilson, Ross Collins, Dave Dinner, Gerry Chapman, Walt. Fines and smooth-skating Don Clayton will be available.

Eddie Williams is back from Quebec Citadels where he failed to click and Edward will likely be back to Aurora this year, and in "C" company he ought to really go good. Pepper Martin, Bob Hanna, Joe Gasko, LaVerne Elth, Wayne Robinson are a few of the Newmarket prospects to enthrall over and possibly Bill Smith and Murray McDonald who are presently at Lindsay with Bill Mitchell will be back this way soon. We've missed one of the canallown boys we know, but after Thursday we'll know better. Jeff Holder, Ken Ham, Noel Ash and Jack Woods of the Nobleton squad are expected to report for action, and Harold Ash of Pine Orchard

Pee-Wees Lose First Game Of O.B.A. Finals To Petrolia

Plans for the winter storage of an O.B.A. crown in the Hub took a disastrous dip Saturday as Newmarket Optimist pee-wees succumbed to Petrolia 6-9.

It was the first game in a best of three for the O.B.A. Ontario championship. Return game is at Petrolia this Saturday.

The invaders had a pitcher our lads couldn't cope with. It was an 11-year, left hander, Ron Winder, who had big league style and pitches to match. He tamed the Optimists on two hits and wound up with an impressive 17 strike-out mark. Don Zogala collected hit one in the fourth, a dinky teasing bunt. He stole second and reached third on an infield out but that's where the journey ended. Pat Ewing laced a liner, our only solid hit, just inside the third base line for the Optimist second base-knock.

Jack Cain on Optimist hill was below form. He claimed six strike-outs, walked four, and gave up five hits. Petrolia jumped for a run lead in the getaway innings, added two more in the third, mainly on the strength of Ron Winder's triple, and added three insurance runs in the fifth, rounded out by Larry Smith's double and an error.

Newmarket: D. Zogala, F. Lewis, B. Cain, J. McGuire, J. Cain, P. Ewing, K. Cassavoy, B. Kiefer, B. Million, W. Croutch.

HASHMAN AWARD

Ducat For Busy Man

With softball finished and the hockey forces just starting to dust off the welcome mat, we've reached back among the softball workers to snatch this week's Hashman award winner and Roxy Theatre pass recipient.

There's an old saying, as good today as it ever was, that runs something like this: "Give the job to a busy man if you want it done."

At least two of our district mushball leagues strung along with this ideal. They were the Lake Simcoe Junior Ladies League and the Lake Simcoe Junior Men's Softball Loop, the latter operating for the first time this season. They named Charlie Stevens of Keswick their president. Charlie found time to handle both jobs in tip top style and on the side did some fine second basing for Keswick's Lake Simcoe Softball side.

Such industry requires recognition and that's why we are naming Charlie Stevens for the Hashman award and Roxy Theatre pass winner.

Cubs Have First Ice Work-out

Aurora Highlands will gather at the 19th hole at Graystones next Monday night when the prizes will be presented, and the bib-and-tucker, the light fantastic and all the trimmings will be the order of the night. Bill Sherwood, club champion, will possibly have at least another award to receive as William has two to go on Saturday as he meets Wb Preston in the finals of the Dawson Cup, and Bill Cross in another event for the Leacock trophy. Three cups would set a record.

Mrs. Ada Garfat of Aurora is the new ladies' champion and we haven't a list of all the awards Prexy VJ Dales will present. The Highlands 18-hole route is being played right now, but it'll be next summer before it's really in shape. "Pop" Keith and Doug, and the pro Charlie Warren have done a swell job this year and can take a well deserved bow for their efforts, all carried out without fanfare or publicity.

Jack Hollowell is the popular choice as president of the Richmond Hill midget hockey club and Jimmy Murray, ye olde goalie of yesteryear, heads the Aurora Town circuit. The Hill will have four clubs again with Messrs. Tom Saul, Wick Mills, Bill White and Bob Ross in charge. Murray has a fine executive behind him and with no intermediate club scheduled for Aurora there'll be fun and games in the town league.

Tuesday night, the York County Police ball at Graystones, and Wednesday night, the Richmond Hill bowling club banquet at Ridge Inn. Truly the banquet season is well underway. Get out the baking soda.

Aurora Banner Voted $94. Town Solicitor Lee Rips Up Pretentious Zoning By-Law

A regular meeting of the town council was held in the municipal chambers on Monday night, Oct. 15, when all members were present. Also present in connection with varied interests were Dr. Boulding, Dr. Henderson, Mr. Ross Linton, Mr. K. Nisbet, Mr. J. M. Offord, Mr. A. Cousins, Mr. S. G. Hoffman and the Aurora town planning board consultant, Mr. W. A. Deacon.

The usual order of business was set aside to hear representations from Dr. Henderson, Mr. Ross Linton and to consider an amended zoning by-law.

Dr. Henderson, in his capacity as chairman of the public school board, requested that a new janitor be appointed for the school at the old town hall, on the grounds that the present service was unsatisfactory. His representations were supported by Mr. Offord.

Mayor Bell asked that a further trial be allowed the present janitor, in reply to which Dr. Henderson insisted that a new appointment must be made. This appointment was eventually given to Frank Griffiths.

Banner Special Edition

Mr. Ross Linton was then heard on behalf of a special issue of the Aurora Banner, to be published in the course of a few weeks. He pointed out that this issue would be serving special advertising town interests, and that the board of trade was taking a page of the issue at the price of $94. He recommended that the council take a page of the Banner at the same price.

Mayor Bell thanked Mr. Linton for his attendance and representations on behalf of the special issue of the Aurora Banner, stating the council would consider the matter.

Council later resolved to buy a page of the Aurora Banner special issue at the price of $94. Kennedy St. West Sewers

The question of installing sewers on the westerly portion of Kennedy street west was again raised. A representative of the town engineer's office stated that a reduction had been offered on the former price asked, which ranged in a $10,600 estimate.

Dr. Henderson said he wanted it made clear that they wanted sewers. "We want the sewers," declared Dr. Henderson.

A lengthy discussion followed on ways and means of achieving this demand, and it was eventually decided that further enquiries be made by the town engineering department and another report submitted.

Zoning By-Law

Council having reached a stalemate over the zoning by-law introduced at its last meeting an amended zoning by-law was presented. At this stage town solicitor Lorne C. Lee took a chair at the council table.

Councillor Gundy, acting as chairman for the presentation of the zoning by-law, continued to read the lengthy involved clauses of the by-law, with Mr. Lee interjecting enquiries from time to time in an effort at elucidating the terminological complexities of the by-law.

Councillor Gundy said that they were doing no more than read over the zoning by-law in an effort to get a grasp of its meaning, and that at a later date the by-law would be considered either by a special committee or by council as a whole. There would, he said, be a Board of Adjustment appointed to consider special individual grievances once the by-law became law.

Mr. Lee's Observations
"It will be too late to consider any adjustments once this by-law is passed," observed Mr. Lee. "Once this by-law is passed by this council you have tied up the town," he declared.

"All we are trying to do is to protect the economy of the town," asserted Councillor Gundy.

Mr. Lee went on to say that the zoning by-law before them was very far-reaching in its consequences, affirming that the citizens should have all matters clarified now and not have to wait until clarification was asked for at a later date.

He went on to say that any appeals to a Board of Adjustment would involve property owners in possibly heavy legal expenses, delays and difficulties.

Pointing to the zoning map, Mr. Lee asserted that no surveyor could use it intelligently, as it gave no indication of accurate boundaries within or outside of the green belt. The map was no reliable guide, Mr. Lee maintained.

Intervening on two or three occasions, at the request of Councillor Gundy, the planning board's consultant conceded that Mr. Lee had made points that needed careful consideration.

Council's Responsibility
The town solicitor again emphasized what he had said at earlier meetings, namely, that

MESSAGE FROM DOAN HALL

This is our first piece of writing from our new headquarters at Doan Hall. It is fitting, we think, that we should say something in the form of restatement of our aims and purposes as a local Aurora newspaper which is enjoying a steady advance in circulation week by week.

That steady advance in sales has been going on now over a period of six months, since the time when the Aurora Banner was bought out over our head in the closest secrecy, and we were washed up, so to speak, on barren sands. We have proved, however, that it can be a good thing to find oneself washed up on barren sands, since what happens afterwards turns out so much better than what one left behind!

What happened to us proves again that there is a law of justice. Some things just cannot be done and those responsible for them succeed in getting away with it. Any intention to silence our voice in Aurora has produced an exactly opposite result. We are more freely vocal now than ever before, and the explanation is that we are writing for a free newspaper, the first aim of which is public service.

Public service is the first consideration in regard to all the writing we do in Aurora News Pages. As we do not fear anyone, neither do we favor anyone. Our aim is to serve the citizens of Aurora without fear or favor. We aren't scared to write something in case we may lose a bit of job-pripping.

We aren't influenced by a nod of the head or the wink of an eye. What we feel the public ought to know we write, whether it pleases or offends special interests here and there. Our first aim is to serve the public. The only way in which that service can be performed is through a free newspaper.

PUBLIC CONFIDENCE

The explanation for the increasing sales of Aurora News Pages and its parent publication, the Era and Express, is to be found in the public confidence inspired by the knowledge that ours is a free newspaper, of a broad, liberal outlook, concerned with giving readers all the news that matters, together with editorial opinions of an independent character.

The Era and Express embraces a wide territory, reaching into more than 3,500 homes each week. It is a fair calculation that our newspaper is read by 15,000 readers each week. People of varied political opinion subscribe to the Era and Express, than which there is no better proof of its impartiality in news service and opinion.

Advertisers choose the Era and Express for the presentation of their merchandise because of their knowledge, based on actual certified figures, that our newspaper reaches a far wider range of readers than any other weekly in North York. The volume of its classified advertising is almost three times that of its nearest competitor.

As for the volume of its display and national advertising, the Era and Express holds a top place among the more than 800 weekly newspapers in Canada, being one of the 62 weekly newspapers holding the distinction of inclusion in Class A Weeklies. These certified facts provide unchallengeable proofs of the public confidence enjoyed by the Era and Express.

And finally, our Aurora News Pages are being read by an increasing number of supporters for the good reason that nothing of public interest is suppressed or restricted. It is our purpose to continue this uncensored news service and independent comment.

WE ARE NOT SHACKLED

During the past two years we have devoted ourselves to the task of bringing to the notice of the citizens of Aurora matters of vital concern affecting town amenities and progress. When we first attacked the deplorable condition to which the town library had been allowed to lapse, we were warned by pessimists that we would "never get anywhere". It was hardly better than a hovel when we wrote our first descriptive article of its condition in November, 1949.

Yet today Aurora has a town library of which it can feel rightly proud.

When the town council voted to sell or rent the Mechanics' Hall to industry, we focussed public attention on the need for a Community Hall. Efforts were made by selfish interests to cancel our activities in behalf of the citizens of Aurora. Our publicity defeated the intentions of a short-sighted council and today the people of Aurora have had restored to them their historic community centre, built by public-spirited citizens in the year 1881.

In the face of former opposition we focussed public attention on the waste of public money on a town planning board which was serving no useful purpose; and we shall continue our efforts to stop such waste of public money.

We can write freely in Aurora News Pages because the only interest we have to serve is the public interest. Our aim in the future will be, as it has been in the past, to bring to the notice of the citizens of Aurora all matters which directly affect their interests.

We are not concerned with the interests of a few people; but with the interests of all the people. That is the fundamental difference which divides a free newspaper from another newspaper which has to keep in mind what it puts in, or keeps out, in the matter of pleasing this or that group. We are not bound by such shackles.

WHAT THEY ARE SAYING

Good Cafes North And South Three Years' Legal Battles Ended In Victory For Bowser

A few days ago at this writing we passed a window of a store on Wellington street that was all whitened over and read these words: "What will Stew do next?" A week ago this day the forlorn-looking store was transformed into a most attractive eating-house, with waitresses being hard pressed in meeting the demands of customers. What Stew had done was to give Aurora one of its best restaurants.

We have been along two or three times since opening-day and have found the place crowded. There is no doubt that Stew's Coffee Shop will be a popular rendezvous, where you can get a substantial meal, a quick, light lunch, or an excellent cup of steaming coffee. And some general confab if you want it.

The other evening we looked in and saw a little crowd of well-known townsmen gathered at a table, sipping their coffee, and carrying on an animated conversation. They were probably discussing the forthcoming municipal elections, the town planning board, or what have you. Discretion forbids that we put their names here!

Stew has received abundant congratulations on the opening of his cafe. Among visible gestures were two beautiful bouquets, roses, dahlias, and chrysanthemums mixed with other lovely blooms, sent with good wishes in the names of the Board of Trade and Aurora Greenhouses.

Stew's Coffee Shop has gotten off to a wonderful start. There was as much coffee sold there on opening day as would supply a miniature swimming pool, nearly 400 cups of it. Having opened a modern eating-house the question now is: "What will Stew do next?"

A Fine Photograph

We have received numerous pleasing comments on the picture of Mr. John W. Bowser's famous Aberdeen Angus bull which appeared in the Era and Express the other week. For this pictorial achievement credit must go to our colleague, Jack Struthers, news editor and occasional photographer for the Era and Express. He has an artist's eye for camera poses and a good journalist's "nose for news".

The Aberdeen Angus bull has achieved much prize-winning fame; but its fame can never rival that of its owner, John W. Bowser, whose success in life resembles accomplishments that you read about in story books. And with it all Jack Bowser remains one of the most modest of men, as easy to talk to as any man you meet on the sidewalk on any day of the week.

There are men who, had they achieved but a twentieth part of the success which Mr. Bowser has won by his own hand, would be so unapproachable that you wouldn't get within a mile of their self-importance. Yet here is a man whose achievements have put his name permanently on the roll of fame in more than one country, and he walks around in his native town with the quiet modesty of a man who might be expecting a favor from somebody.

Long Legal Battle

He has just won a legal contest that has been going on since 1948. In that year he sold a prize-winning bull abroad and six months later an action was instituted on behalf of the owners for an alleged incompetency in the animal, whose history had shown the highest merits.

Six months is admittedly a long period in which to wait in the laying of a charge in animal incompetency, especially having regard to established successful records.

Mr. Bowser contested the claims of the new owners and the first hearing took place in the county court at Toronto, resulting in a verdict for the defender. The case was then taken to the supreme court of Ontario, with similar results. Finally an action was heard in the supreme court of Canada, and a week ago judgment was handed down in favor of Mr. Bowser, who was also awarded full costs.

These three legal actions have covered a period of some three years, with costs running into thousands of dollars. Mr. Bowser has emerged triumphantly from this long series of legal contests, and with others we tender him our hearty congratulations.

The Graystones

Saturday night, Oct. 27, will be a great occasion at the Graystones, when the annual Halloween dance takes place. This is probably Aurora's chief social event of the year.

Since July of this year the management has been in the hands of the capable and charming Mrs. Margaret Weir, who was formerly at St. Andrew's College and is an authority on cuisine.

The Ambassador room cabaret plate furnishes many attractive dishes calculated to satisfy the most selective appetites, and we were not surprised to hear from Mrs. Weir that business is very satisfactory. When low in spirits the victim should try an evening at the Graystones, for refreshment and relaxation.

The Graystones is an ideal place for the holding of banquets, large social gatherings and private parties. Sunday evening concerts have just started there. Singing Birds in Plenty

We made a call the other day at the home of Mrs. Holman, at 54 Centre St. where there is an attic full of birds, some 150 of them. They are not, of course, free to fly around, but are kept in cages trim and neat. Mostly they are canaries, of special breeds, but there are also about 30 budgies.

The latter are nesting now and we saw some of the eggs, which are white in color. The canaries are not in song at the present time, but are tuning up for the spring. There must be plenty of music in the Holman home when these hundred or so canaries are singing in what the poet, Keats, described as "full-throated ease."

As for the budgies, some of which can articulate as successfully as many humans, their owners can become very attached to them. During our visit a young man called to ask advice from Mrs. Holman concerning his sick budgie. "Our home is very melancholy just now," he said, "with the budgie sick. We are all worried about him."

Mrs. Holman keeps all these birds as a special hobby and not as an industry. She does, however, sell them when their numbers become too numerous. Any one wanting a canary or a budgie should give her a call, and see an immaculately-kept attic full of birds.

Frank Smith, Hunter

What Mr. Frank Smith could not afford was more than ten days away from his shoe-repairing store, despite the allurements of hunting up north in the month of November. He could not afford more time off than ten days because of the pressure of clients waiting work done.

He had promised us a story of his hunting exploits this year; and all being well we shall relate his successes for the pleasure of his numerous friends in Aurora and county. Frank has been hunting since before the time many other hunters were born, and he is good for many years at his favorite sport.

The Aurora figure skating club is meeting with great success, having a current enrolment of 139. Mrs. Frances Watson of the Resthaven, Aurora, originated the idea of a skating club, having been impressed with the success of the Newmarket ladies' club.

69TH ANNIVERSARY

On Sunday, October 14, the Aurora Baptist church celebrated its 69th anniversary. Special services celebrating the event were conducted by the Rev. Dickson Burns, superintendent of home missionary work.

CYRIL HAMLIN DIES

Aurora News Page deeply regrets to report the sudden death of Cyril, only son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Smith, in Nova Scotia on Sunday night, October 14.

Cyril, who attended high and public school in Aurora, attained a very important engineering position in Nova Scotia. He was married and had one child.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Smith left by airplane to attend the funeral services. The deepest sympathy will be felt for them and Mrs. Hamlin in their sad loss, in Aurora and neighborhood.

Proof In Figures

When you are in doubt on the best medium of advertising be guided by the figures. Figures are a proof of circulation. For 50 cents you can place an advertisement in the Era and Express that will reach over 3,500 homes in North York county.

The following figures for the past six weeks, covering only small classified ads and sales registers, provide conclusive proof for advertisers who may hesitate between the Aurora Banner and the Era and Express.

Banner, August 30, classified	58	Era and Express	134

" " 13 "	71	" "	212

The above figures speak for themselves. The proof is in the figures.

THURSDAY, THE EIGHTEENTH DAY OF OCTOBER, NINETEEN HUNDRED AND FIFTY-ONE

CANADIAN FLAG

Princess Elizabeth and the Duke of Edinburgh were greeted with waving standards wherever they went. How unfortunate it was that in all that array of bunting, there was no Canadian flag.

A few weeks ago, the Era and Express published a description of a proposed design for a Canadian flag. The design was of immediate local interest because it had been endorsed by the Lions clubs, several of which exist in this district.

The design is strikingly appropriate. It consists of field of ten bars, five of them white, five blue, denoting the ten provinces. The Union Jack is set in the upper left corner and a red maple leaf in the field with a white Fleur de lis superimposed upon it. The design is distinctively Canadian, giving as it does the history of the country, its roots and its affiliations, in its choice of symbols.

But whether this design or another is chosen, the fact remains that there is no reason why Canada should not fly its own flag. We claim our independence and assert our maturity. Why shouldn't these statements be validated by the unfurling of a Canadian flag.

EMPHASIS UPON SOUTH END

Liberal and Progressive Conservative party leaders will open the campaigns of their respective candidates in North York next weekend. The C.C.F. has not announced its plans at this writing but the chances are that this party too will claim its leader to give the riding contest its send-off.

It is significant that both of the old parties plan to hold their nomination meetings in Armour Heights public school on Wilson Ave. in North York township. It is indicative of the extent the south end of the riding, with its heavy concentration of population, rules the riding's choice of candidate.

There was a time, not long distant, when Newmarket, Aurora, and Richmond Hill were the choices for the nomination meetings and campaign headquarters. And there are a good many still in the north end of the riding who cherish the belief that it is the rural vote which counts. Tradition dies hard. But more than 60 percent of the voting population lives in the areas built up since the war in the south end, and it is that vote the parties are after.

In its early development, that same south end was generally held to be a C.C.F. stronghold but in the last few years, there has been a steady influx of white collar workers into the area and in the last federal election it was heavily Liberal.

VLA TAX APPEALS

Several veterans living in the Veterans' Land Act sub-division in north-east Newmarket plan to appeal their current assessments. Next year, as a group, they intend to ask council for some form of blanket tax concession for the sub-division.

The veterans have a persuasive argument for the latter. They claim that when the town council was negotiating for the establishment of a VLA sub-division, some form of tax concession was assured. So far, they say, that concession has not been forthcoming.

But the veterans' situation does not rest upon this assurance. They are in a peculiar position of being taxed on property many of them do not want but are prevented from getting rid of by VLA regulation. The veterans are settled upon half acre lots, the minimum under the VLA in the Newmarket sub-division. They cannot sell the land they do not want although they can sell their complete holding.

The purpose of the VLA originally was to assist veterans to establish themselves and their families in their own homes on enough land to provide them with a fair living. This purpose was modified when the Newmarket VLA sub-division was opened. The minimum amount of land was reduced to a half acre and the homes were built within an urban municipality, something of an innovation. But in keeping with the original purpose of the act, each lot was a half acre at least.

This purpose, sound as it may be, does not take into consideration that the taxes on such property within an urban area are likely to be more than the benefits received from the land as is apparently the case with some of those appealing their assessments. And too, the homes in Newmarket sub-division are essentially urban homes and their residents sufficiently secure in their jobs to ignore the possibilities of half acre gardens.

But the fact remains that they are required to keep land for which they have no use but cannot sell and so must pay taxes for. It is in this extreme that they have appealed their assessments and plan to seek some form of tax concession from council.

Blanket tax concessions as such have little to recommend them. A group, or industry, or whoever the recipients of these concessions may be, benefit by these concessions, and if it were simply a matter of giving benefits, it would be less an issue. But alongside these benefits is a corresponding penalty against the other taxpayers who must make up the difference in the municipal income.

In the case of the veterans, there are one or two additional considerations. The first is the council's earlier assurance of a tax concession. We do not doubt that if such a concession were promised, it was part of the council's post-war policy to provide homes for veterans in every way it could. It is a fact that Newmarket's housing program, the VLA sub-division, the camp area and Armitage heights, was generally accepted as a solid acknowledgement to the veterans for a job done in wartime and whatever cost was involved, presumably including tax concessions, was included.

Secondly, the province, while voicing a general disapproval to tax concessions, has provided for exceptions in the case of veterans and such concessions could be granted by council if it wished. Finally, Newmarket has a valuable sub-division on the VLA property and it would be a shame to spoil it by permitting it to be built over as would happen were the holdings sold.

It seems to us that here is an occasion where council could with credit work out some form of concession to veterans on the sub-division. It would be in keeping with its policy and it would remove the veterans on the sub-division. It would be in keeping with its policy and it would remove the veterans from the awkward position they are in through no fault of their own.

BUSINESS MEN MEET

The need of a businessmen's organization on Main St. has been voiced too frequently in these columns to need any further elaboration. Attempts at Boards of Trade and Chambers of Commerce have been dismal failures and a reluctance now to invest time and effort in such lost causes is understandable. But some form of association is necessary. And a varied group of Main St. retailers met Monday to talk over the possibilities.

It was a casual meeting but it admirably served its purpose. Out of it came a decision to attempt a Newmarket Businessmen's Association with another meeting planned for the first Monday in November. The association they visualize is most informal, with no affiliations with national organizations, no dues, a limited executive, and serving but one purpose: to provide businessmen with a means for discussion among themselves of problems common to them all, and as a means to act as one for the improvement of Newmarket as a business centre.

The original group numbers only nine but they would like to see every businessman interested in such an organization join them at their next meeting. They have, at present, no major objectives nor do they anticipate any. Right now, their concern is to provide a forum for discussion of Main St. problems. Later, if action is indicated, they hope that their voice will carry the sentiments of Newmarket businessmen to whatever quarter should be necessary.

EDITORIAL NOTES

We noticed again last week the frequency with which members of the Women's Institute branches in this district visit each other. In last week's Institute News, there were several notices of pending visits by one branch to another. Quite apart from the social pleasure of such visits, the opportunities to exchange ideas and to foster projects in common to all branches must be very stimulating.

Office Cat Reports Catnips By Ginger

My friend Slim Bliggins dropped over for an evening on the weekend. We had some blue cheese and half a gallon of Uncle Tom's cider and then read for a while. It was a nice cool night, one of those nights you sit in front of the hearth and we warmed ourselves in front of the open hot-air register.

Slim was reading the newspapers about the royal tour and the other news. On second thought, it was just about the royal tour.

He thrust the paper down and turned to me. "Say, listen to me, what's this here protocol they're always talking about?"

"Well," says I, "it's what you're supposed to do right at the right time or something, I guess. Or is it now let me see, is it some kind of British motor oil? And yet again, it could be the mating song of the Dodo, I'm not sure."

"Well, it says here that this here reporter exploded a flash bulb in the princess' face and that he forgot protocol and spoke first. Said he was sorry."

"Maybe you'd better look it up in the dictionary," I advised. Slim swallowed a heel of Uncle Tom's and walked over to the bookcase.

"It says here," said Slim, "a draught of terms agreed upon, signed by the parties for use as a basis of a formal treaty. Well I don't think a man would have to go through all that to converse with royalty. Here, farther down, it says that with an upper case P, it means the etiquette department of the French Foreign Office."

"Unlikely," I said. "Let's see how it sounds in the context," said Slim. "The reporter forgot the etiquette department of the French Foreign Office and spoke first. Hmm."

"Of course," I said, "her royal highness would have spoken first had he given her a chance."

"I submit that very much," said Slim, "because she was probably thunderstruck by this poppin' flashbulb. Who wouldn't?"

"Oh shut up and give me another glass of Uncle Tom's and keep your newspaper to yourself," I shouted.

by "Dairy Farmer" The Top Six Inches

Now that the World Series is over, the Princess has left to visit the west, the fishing season is over and the deer hunting hasn't started yet, we are looking for the usual rumblings and headlines and speeches connected with a provincial election. However, before we go any further, we confess that we are not interested in politics and elections and we have never attended a political rally and we doubt if we will this time. We are just wondering if we should. We would like to ask the candidates a few questions pertaining to this milk issue which continues to boil and simmer and which will have to be settled one of these days.

What we want to know from the candidate in this riding is whether he has any knowledge of the problem. We live in a riding that is partly rural and partly urban. The man elected will represent a lot of people producing milk and a lot of people drinking it. That puts him in a kind of special position. A city candidate can afford to holler about holding the price of milk and a strictly rural aspirant can thunder away at the big dairies. But our man will have to face the issues and do some thinking and come up with the answer which will suit both sides.

Our guess is that this can be done two ways. He can either sit on the fence and try to be nice to both groups. If that is his attitude we will not vote for him. We think that the time has come for somebody to get up and tell the truth. That will hurt a lot of people, but if the man has this kind of courage, we will vote for him and help him.

We expect an honest and straightforward candidate first of all to tell the buying public, that the slogan "hold the price of milk" is a fallacy. How in taration can they hold the price of milk when no effort is made to hold the price of all other things that go into its making? Wages, machinery, feed, everything is up in price. Yet milk isn't. We will not argue the pros and cons of price controls and subsidies and so on, but unless everything is under control and prices are pegged all along the line, a single unit milk as the commodity that cannot go up is plain idiotic.

But then he will have to turn around and tell that part of organized labor which is opposing any changes in the system of delivery that they are wrong too. He will have to point out that progress and increased efficiency in the system of production and distribution eventually benefits everybody, organized labor in particular. Granted it might mean some men will have to find another job, it is better to do this today than tomorrow. Labor is wrong in insisting on 5-day deliveries. This will increase store sales and cut into their jobs. And we want the man who wants our vote to get up and say so. We want that man to have the courage and say this to organized labor.

And finally, he will have to tell the big dairies to increase their efficiency, tell them that they are entitled to a fair profit and return on their investment, but that they are to improve their methods of distribution and merchandising. They are to provide automatic scales and a better method of butterfat testing, but mostly, a better method of selling our product.

Of course, he will have to have something to say to the producers too. Well, let him tell us that our organization isn't without fault, that it isn't democratic and there are too many little big men, who talk too much and who are petty and shortsighted, at the head of it. He should tell the farmers to do some housecleaning and tell them to produce more efficiently and use more of the services available through the government.

This man won't get elected, you will say. We think he would. We think so because the sheer surprise caused by such honesty would sweep people off their feet. And because, even if you don't think so, a man who would talk like this would impress all of us as being the man who could represent what we stand for.

From the Files of 25 and 50 Years Ago

OCTOBER 15, 1926

OCTOBER 18, 1901

An airplane flying over town on Tuesday afternoon had to make a landing in a field at the corner of the town line and the 3rd of Whitechurch, on the farm formerly owned by Dr. Wesley, which attracted a number of interested spectators.

Fall trade is picking up, the cool weather causing a demand for heavier clothing.

Kettleby: The Toronto Hunt Club made a brilliant picture in their red coats on Saturday last when they congregated here for their cross-country run.

Do you realize that it is only ten weeks till Christmas?

Virginia: The hydro has reached all the homes that are wired in Virginia and the farmers feel almost as if they are in town.

Schomberg: Exhibits, from apple pies, pickles and live-stock to picturesque oil paintings attracted some 4,000 people to what has proved one of the most successful fairs in the history of Schomberg, the event being held yesterday.

Toronto News: Mr. J. W. Jones, relief fireman at the high level pumping station, has fallen heir to a fortune because he rescued a baby when the ill-fated Titanic was sunk by striking an iceberg in the Atlantic on April 15, 1912. The grandmother of the infant, out of gratitude for saving her daughter's child, has bequeathed him a large sum of money, said to be $100,000.

Zephyr: Two holidays last week for the kiddies, as the teachers were attending convention in Utawake.

Last day to pay taxes and save the discount.

The Lyceum Vaudeville Company, which will be here tonight, is the strongest vaudeville troupe now in Canada. This is the company which broke the attendance record at Shea's recently. This company has the honor of being the last show attended by President McKinley.

Mt. Albert: The organ in the Presbyterian Church refused to work on Sunday and the purchase of a new one has been decided on.

It is estimated that the Boer War is costing England at the rate of about $600,000 daily.

Baldwin: Numbered boxes are now in use in our P. O., making it a great convenience for postmistress and the public.

Mt. Albert: The telephone line has been completed through Mount Albert from Sharon and is being continued to Brownhill, most of the poles being set and the wire up. The office fixtures have not been placed in position so we can't say "hello" yet.

Sutton: Several of our young men left on Monday fully equipped with boats and guns to hunt the fallow deer in the neighborhood of Kirkwood.

Bellhaven: Mr. Howard Morvan is improving his store by putting up an addition. Miss Pike has also commenced her work. New dresses and hats will appear soon.

The Duke and Duchess of Cornwall and York, when they return to England from their tour of Canada, will take up residence in Marlborough House.

Happy is the farmer that has a few well-loaded apple trees in this locality this year.

The Story Of SHARON

By

ETHEL WILLSON TREWHELLA

This is the nineteenth instalment of a continuing "Story of Sharon" from its founding to the present. The story was written after almost two years of research and will, we believe, be a major contribution to knowledge of the past. The remaining installments will follow weekly.

Beginning in 1862-63 Canon Allen has compiled a list of the incumbent of Sharon and associate places of worship. At the above date the Rev. S. F. Ramsay of Newmarket is represented as taking services at Moore's school house as well as at Newmarket and St. Alban's (Holland Landing). This may well refer to Sharon as services were commenced there shortly afterwards by John Carry. In a lengthy obituary published at the death of Canon Ramsay, it is stated that he came to Canada in 1848 as secretary of the Canadian branch of the Society for the Propagation of the Gospel in Foreign Parts. Included in his extensive circuit were the missions of Sharon and Burchardtown (Mount Albert) where he held services semi-monthly. As representative of the above organization Canon Ramsay was a link with the early settlement of Upper Canada.

1948—H. J. Puxley
1950—M. D. C. Hutt

Each of these Sharon appointments included Holland Landing. From 1882 to 1886 Rev. A. W. Spragge was the incumbent at Newmarket also. From 1891 to 1916 Mount Albert formed the third appointment. From 1917 to 1935 the three appointments were Sharon, Holland Landing and Roche's Point. During 1936 and 1937 Rev. A. G. Channen held services at Sharon, Holland Landing, Bradford and Coulson's. From 1938 to 1950 Sharon, Holland Landing and Roche's Point constituted the three services with the addition of Jersey in 1949 and 1950. Church in Sharon

The following interesting account of the church in Sharon has been contributed by Mrs. Bertha Phillips. Mrs. Phillips states: "Having been asked by our rector to give a few highlights of the church, on reading of the first minute book, dated 1866, I find the name of our church was recorded as 'St. James the Great', then the records show that in 1872 it was changed to 'St. James the Apostle'.

"In 1868 the land on which the building stands was purchased from William Selby for $130.00 in the name of John T.

Stokes. It had been planned to have a burying ground in connection with the church but that later was abandoned, hence the amount of land.

"Services were begun in Watson's shed, the Mansion House, the present site of the Collins' house, in 1866 through the courtesy of the Sons of Temperance, and continued for two years. The first service in the new church was held on the 10th Sunday after Trinity, 1869, the incumbent being Rev. John Carry of Lennoxville College. The wardens were: W. L. Knight, rector's warden, and Thomas Selby, people's warden. "Between the opening of the church and 1892 there were several incumbents, and from that time (1892) to 1898 the church was closed, after which, under Canon Osler, it was re-opened. At this re-opening William Selby, James Waying and Albert Wilson were the three members to officiate. In 1869 William Keith, father of William Keith, later of Newmarket, representative in the provincial house and magistrate in His Majesty's court, was actively engaged in the affairs of the new church.

"The memorial to Mr. and Mrs. John T. Stokes was erected by their daughters: that to Mrs. Harriet Waying by the Knight family. There have been three bequests to St. James' church. The first was from Mrs. Harriet Waying of $500.00, and also through her generosity the iron fence in front of the property was erected and our first furnace installed.

"The second bequest of $2,000 came from the Misses Mary and Clara Knight, the third, for a similar amount, was from their brother, Mr. William Knight, son of one of the first wardens. It is through his generous gift that we have been able to proceed with the re-conditioning of the church.

"Another generous benefactor is Mrs. Robert Wreggit. She has presented two flags to the church and afterwards had the electric lights installed which are greatly appreciated."

Mrs. Phillips has paid a generous tribute to the interest, the unity and co-operation in the church under the spiritual guidance of the rector at time of writing, the Rev. N. L. Puxley. Thanksgiving Service

An account has been preserved of a very interesting occasion in connection with the Anglican church at Sharon. "On Wednesday afternoon, Sept. 16, 1874, the members of St. James' church in East Gwillimbury held their Harvest Home and Thanksgiving service in the village of Sharon. A great deal of work and taste had been displayed in rendering this beautiful little church of St. James even more beautiful with decorations of wreaths of grain, fruit, flowers and vegetables which adorned the chancel and other parts of the building. The grape vine strung with grapes formed a prominent part of the chancel decorations. The communion table was covered with choicest fruits and flowers. The whole interior of the church presented a scene on which the thankful Christian could not but ponder, and especially when, on the clergy entering the chancel the choir struck up that appropriate hymn, 'Come ye thankful people, come.' "The service began at half-past one and was special throughout. Rev. T. W. Patterson, B.A., incumbent of Bradford, read the prayers and Rev. F. Tremayne, B.A., of Newmarket, preached the sermon. The incumbent of the parish, Rev. H. D. Cooper, closed the service. The people, headed by the Sharon band and the Holland Landing Sunday school children, carrying their banners, proceeded to the drill shed where were spread two long tables decorated with the good things of this life provided by the ladies of the Sharon congregation who deserve great praise. The afternoon was later spent in music by the band, addresses by the visiting clergy and singing by Mrs. Forth and the choir. The program closed by the band playing the National Anthem. It was considered to be one of the best entertainments ever held in Sharon."

In July of 1884 when it seemed the church must again be closed the congregation presented to Mr. A. J. Fidler, a student from Trinity College, a purse. When the church was re-opened in December of the same year, Mr. Harris, a student, was in charge.

Temperance in Sharon Following survey in Upper Canada roads were of first importance, to be followed almost simultaneously by taverns and inns, places of accommodation in the wilderness for the traveller and his horse. As well, they were centres to which men were glad to escape for a brief hour of human companionship. At every concession were to be found these conveniences — as the country continued to be opened there probably existed in every village, one, two, or

ACROSS THE SEA

Newmarket, England

By R. F. JEFFERY
Editor, Newmarket Journal

Polling day is little more than a week ahead as I write in what all sides describe as the most crucial General Election in the history of Parliament. Somehow, I seem to have heard that cry before!

This town of Newmarket is probably one of the worst places in the country to feel the pulse of the nation as to the outcome of the election. It is a strong Conservative centre and even at this stage, the result of the 2.30 appears to mean as much as politics.

When the wartime coalition government broke up, the feeling here would have laughed to scorn any suggestion that the Labour Party would sweep into power, but it happened. The name of Churchill is still held in reverence, although not a few would have preferred that this great statesman had retired on his laurels then, rather than return to party politics. Here we have no idea of what is happening in the large industrial areas but Newmarket will have a shock if Oct. 26 does not find a government headed by Mr. Churchill.

Newmarket is part of a scattered constituency, which has regularly returned a Conservative member for many years. Although the Labour candidate got within striking distance last time, there is no likelihood of a change. The present member, Mr. William Aitken, a nephew of Lord Beaverbrook, made a successful debut at the last election, and in the meantime has created a good impression as an able and conscientious representative. There was a topical note to his meeting here last night by a supporting speech from a local man who has returned from the Abadan trouble-spot.

Not that the Socialists are without their guns. They have a new candidate who is a farmer, which may have some appeal in an agricultural area. He has had the support of the Prime Minister, who passed through New-even three of these licensed places. It was a raw age and very easy to obtain license as only application had to be made. Some of those pioneer landlords and landladies are of grateful memory, of others of those rough-and-ready spots, stories have been told that would thrill any modern western thriller.

Sharon had its quota of these public places. In the 1830's mention is made of an inn kept by John Reid. On November 2, 1859, a hotel on the west side of Queen Street and nearly adjoining the grounds of the Children of Peace, was burned. This place was occupied and operated by Henry Smith. Arson was suspected so in March, 1860, His Excellency, the Governor General of Canada, offered a reward of $100 for information that would lead to conviction of the party who set the fire. This hotel was the property of Reuben Lundy.

North of Sharon stood another tavern. On November 13, 1872, fire was discovered in a stable adjoining the house occupied by Mr. Hutchinson, a weaver, at Tory Hill. The flames spread to the hotel nearby, kept by Patrick Horan. The hotel and barn were both burnt.

Across the road and one lot south of the corner of Queen St. and "Amos Hughes" sideroad, stood the Dew Drop Inn. It has long since disappeared. A few rods below that stood the Mansion House. For years it remained the only public place in Sharon, a central spot for travellers, the stage, etc., with a dining room which catered to various organizations. To the south at a considerable distance, on the corner of Queen St. and the Harrold sideroad, were another hotel and a tannery, owned and operated by . . . Terry; the hotel stood on the south side of the stream and the tannery opposite beyond the stream.

Temperance Societies. From earliest times in Upper Canada liquor made trouble and in these woodland hostels the convivial cup ever flowed. At all social occasions it was plentiful — christenings, weddings, funerals, bees, harvesting and threshing. The settler who refused to offer the jug of "Oh Be Joyful" became a marked man. Everywhere the evil was blighting the lives of the people. Temperance societies were springing up and between 1829 and 1832, the temperance forces were really waking. The temperance people of Sharon considered the local situation to be very serious. In 1836 Samuel Hughes delivered two addresses on the subject, one to the men, at the close of which the question underwent earnest debate and a resolution was passed regretting "the great corruption that had prevailed in the place on account of intemperance". The second of these addresses was directed to the women and was held "at the Female Institution, in the village of Hope". In the year of 1846 a very large temperance meeting was held in Sharon.

It was in 1848 that the Sons of Temperance began work in Upper Canada. It was a branch of a great fraternal order which had been established in New York on Sept. 29, 1842.

Those Were The Days

● Grandfather kept a cow for his milk. He often made his own shoes. His cash requirements were small because he bartered his services for his family needs.

Today — with our tremendous industrial growth, our needs have increased but our purchases are now made by either cash or credit.

Your use of cash or credit for everyday needs requires good management and sound budgeting. Occasionally the pattern breaks, due to sickness, unemployment or unforeseen emergencies. Wise borrowing can then protect one of the greatest assets enjoyed in modern family life — good credit standing in the community.

Unlike "the good old days", we today have learned to use the experience of others for our own benefit. These are condensed into a workable, readable booklet, entitled "Money Management, Your Budget" — available at your nearest branch office or by writing our Consumer Education Department, 80 Richmond Street West, Toronto, Ontario.

Township of Whitchurch

Notice To
All Residents in the Township

AND

All persons contemplating purchase of property in the township of Whitchurch

Land owners, residents within the township and persons planning to purchase property in the township are strongly urged to become familiar with the Planning Act of 1916, Province of Ontario and its amendments and the various township bylaws governing the subdivision of property, the use to which property within the township can be put and the type, size and location of buildings.

Bylaw No. 1331 entitled "A bylaw to restrict the use of land in a defined area in the Township of Whitchurch" and the Township building bylaw are of interest to all of us since the type of buildings erected and the use of which the land is to be put may affect the value and desirability of adjoining property and affect the Township as a whole.

It is advisable for persons considering subdivision of property, sale of property or purchase of property within the township to consult the clerk of the municipality, who is also the secretary of the Planning Board. Advice should be obtained before, and not after the transfer of property and before money has been spent on such things as surveying the property or drawing up conveyances.

F. H. vanNOSTRAND, Chairman,
JOHN CRAWFORD, Secretary,
Planning Board, Township of Whitchurch.

Aurora Council Report

"Consider very carefully just what property in the town you are tying up," Mr. Lee warned.

At 11 p.m. it was decided that the council should halt further reading of the zoning by-law and get started on its regular program. At that hour only eight pages of the by-law had been read.

Regular Business
With one hour to go before midnight the clerk read the first regular item of business, namely, correspondence. This included a letter from Mr. Earl Stewart, owner of the North End taxi, requesting the renting of vacant town land adjoining his taxi stand. Council agreed to rent the plot of land to Mr. Stewart.

A letter was received from the Canadian Legion inviting the attendance of council at the parade on Remembrance Day. Council accepted the invitation and resolved to send a wreath in remembrance, as in past years.

A motion by Councillor Corbett concerning the installation of a water main from Wellington street west to the town limits was approved, allowing of such installation when finances are available.

A count of revision to consider assessment appeals was appointed as follows: Mayor Bell, Deputy Reeve Murray, and Councillors Corbett, Davies and Fielding.

Council adjourned at 12.15 a.m. A special meeting of council will be held on Monday night, October 22, to deal with business which was not reached at the foregoing meeting.

(A review of the above meeting held on October 15 will appear in our "Council Sidelights" in next issue. In reply to numerous enquiries we have to state that council has so far taken no action in regard to Mayor Bell's instructions that we are not to see the file of council business, which was unanimously agreed to by council resolution of July 24, 1950. Ed.)

WHAT THEY ARE SAYING

council was elected by the people and had a responsibility to them.

He warned council against transferring any of its powers to any planning board not responsible to the people. "Be very careful with this by-law," he urged.

It had been claimed, continued Mr. Lee, that amendments could be introduced after the by-law was passed. Such amendments would be very difficult and costly and would bear down heavily on individuals in legal expenses.

Mr. Hartley, the Newmarket skating instructor, is arranging to give tuition every Tuesday at the Aurora club immediately the ice is installed, and this fact should greatly augment the present early membership.

Mrs. Watson and her supporters are hoping to arrange a figure skating carnival at Aurora near the end of the season. We express best wishes for the success of the club, and of the carnival project.

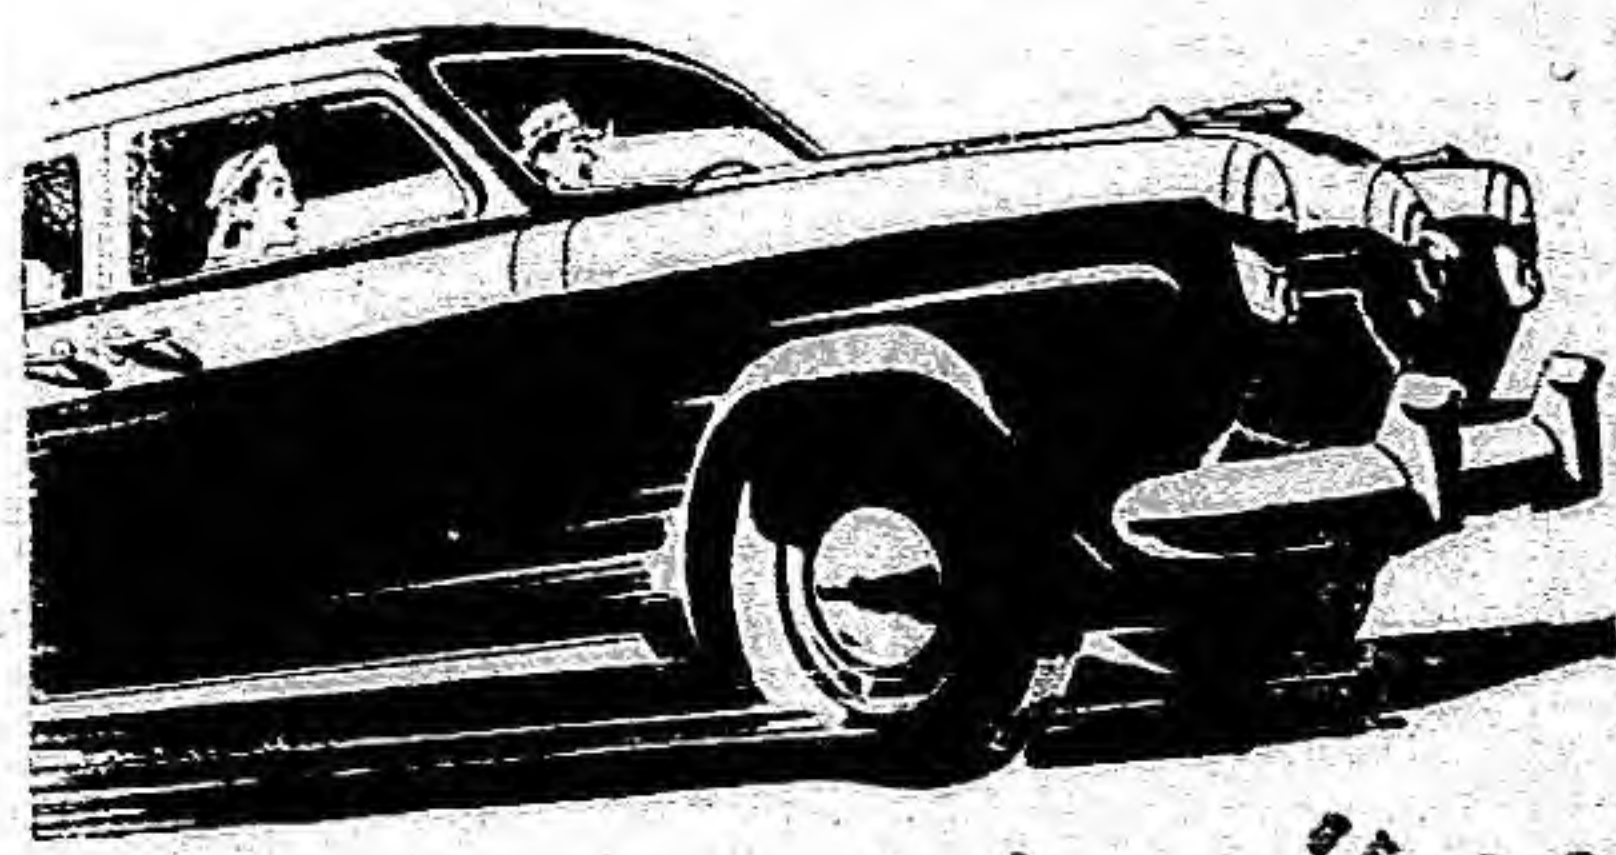

The Bowser Store
We welcome to our Aurora News Pages this week an advertisement of very unusual interest, in which free contest prizes amounting to no less than $4,000 are scheduled as "Give Aways." ## The Common Round...

By Isabel Inglis Colville

VICARIOUS IMPRESSIONS

I wonder how many of you who read this column got their first impression of princes and princesses as I did from reading the fairy tales of the brothers Grimm and Hans Andersen?

There was always a wicked witch who worked her evil magic on either prince or princess, but fairly godmother, or someone equally potent, always arrived in the nick of time and delivered the afflicted one, following which they lived happily ever after.

Not often in real life are people privileged to see a fairy tale come true, but in our time it has happened. The fairy godmother of unforeseen events has elevated the lovely Princess Elizabeth to the steps of a throne, and the wicked witch of war, who banished handsome Prince Philip from his homeland in childhood, has given him a new homeland and a unique place in the heart of the Commonwealth.

I feel cheated that I did not, for myself see these fairy-tale characters in the flesh—but the evil witch of circumstances moved her wand and laughed at my woe and put three obstacles in the way. Had I been a character in a fairy tale, I could without any appreciable effort have overcome them. Being a very ordinary individual, I could not. No little elves appeared to put new and dependable tires on the car, no fairy made me immune to the effects of a cold serum, which the doctor said worked too well, leaving me a sniffling, coughing wreck and no doubt causing the doctor to wonder why I couldn't behave normally, as Archie did, and lastly, I am small and if I get in a crowd, I pant and gasp and feel sure I am going to expire then and there, which does not make Archie or anyone else near me happy.

So, instead, I am telling you of the experience of Gladys Redley, Irene Proctor and a friend of theirs who took nine Sharon school pupils of Irene's down to see the Prince and Princess. They arrived at 3 o'clock and got a splendid place near the beautifully decorated city hall. Irene and the other drivers went off to park their cars—and that was the last Gladys and the nine children saw them till seven o'clock that night. They just couldn't get back and were forced to stay at the opposite corner.

They were in the sun and nearly smothered. Around them women fainted—fortunately they could not fall; the crowd held them up—it couldn't do anything else till stretchers arrived.

ADVICE TO ACTORS

Must Build Realistic Character Drama Club Members Told

A good actor must not be content just to say his lines, but always tries to use imagination, emotions and gestures in building up a realistic character, said Mrs. Hilda Sternale-Bennett, of the Canadian Theatre School, when she addressed members of the Newmarket Dramatic Club in the town hall auditorium on Oct. 12.

Canadian audiences get a chance to see outstanding characterizations in English movies, she stated, giving practical suggestions for creating "the inner life of another individual." It is a good idea to start by considering how the character would walk or sit or carry out any other action. You may remember a similar person from real life or you may have to use imagination alone, but in any case prepare well in advance and ask your friends whether they think you have succeeded in making the character a perfect whole, she said.

Every gesture must be thought out and nothing left to chance. Decide, if the author doesn't say, what the character's background may have been and the things that have made him what he is in the play. Above all, be creative, she added.

The Canadian Theatre School produces full-length plays after students have first drilled in classroom exercises which include acting in charades or making up original scenes inspired by color, music, or a drumbeat. Since a sound technique means that an actor can succeed in many roles, actors quite frankly build up a store-house of tricks, yet acting is always a very personal thing.

Often students are told to imagine they are holding a piece of ice until their hands hurt with the cold, or that they are seeing a really horrible sight or a pleasant one, and in the course of this drill they learn to laugh and cry in a variety of ways. Their screams, as demonstrated, are very effective. As an exercise in observation they act out incidents they see from day to day, and find the Toronto street cars good sources of amusing material.

Wearing period costume is such an art that a little advance practice with hoop skirt, fan, or even snuff box is time well spent, the speaker said. Art galleries and libraries give clues about how people used to walk and sit when wearing elaborate dress.

To conclude the program, two students from the Canadian Theatre School gave a playlet on "relaxing." Relaxation is the way to success as an actor, they believe.

John Kudelka presided at the meeting, and Mrs. J. Hamilton introduced the speaker. Reports were made on the club's next production, "Harvey," by Mary Chase, to be presented Nov. 1, 2, and 3, under the joint direction of Dr. C. E. Vandervoort and Mr. J. O. Dales. Mrs. Sternale-Bennett congratulated the Newmarket group on its activities.

TO ATTEND CONVENTION

Miss Norine Ayers, president of the Newmarket Business and Professional Women's club, will attend the Ontario B. and P. convention at the King Edward hotel, Toronto, Nov. 3 and 4, as the official delegate of the local club.

CIVIC OFFICIALS TELL CLUB OF ACTIVITIES

The theme of this month's meeting of the Newmarket Business and Professional Women's club was Municipal Night. The monthly dinner meeting was held at the King George hotel Monday, Oct. 15, with the president, Norine Ayers, presiding.

There was a good attendance, including two guests. The club welcomed one new member. The head table was decorated beautifully with pink and white snapdragons and roses, which Mrs. Wilfred Oliver won at a draw held at the close of the evening.

The guest speakers, Mrs. M. B. Seldon, Mrs. J. C. R. Edwards and Mayor Joseph Vale, were introduced by Mrs. Alex George. The speakers gave the club a very informative report on their activities and offices in municipal matters. Mrs. Seldon, a member of the public school board, gave an interesting talk on the activities of that board. Mrs. Edwards, Newmarket public school representative to the Newmarket-Sutton High School Area board, told of the duties and work of this group. Mayor Vale spoke on "Municipal Matters of Newmarket."

First School Fun Fair Hailed Grand Success

Over $175 was raised by the Newmarket Home and School association at its first Fun Fair when the town's children accompanied by their parents turned out in full force for an evening of merriment.

Held in King George school on Friday, Oct. 12, the fair proved a great success.

All the rooms as well as the corridors of the school were packed to capacity. Children began arriving about half-hour before the time for the Fun Fair to begin and by 7.15, only a short quarter of an hour after the doors were opened, all the home-made candy, taffy apples, popcorn and the home baking were sold out.

The fish pond proved a popular spot with the small fry "landing" a wide assortment of noise makers including math organs, whistles, horns and other treats. These contributed enormously to the youngsters' enjoyment of the evening.

But, more than one teacher and parent wondered before the end of the evening if they had been a wise choice. (Have you ever been confined to close quarters with literally hundreds of noise makers being sounded gleefully at one time?)

For a five-cent ticket, children could purchase one of the dandy treats; try their luck fishing; attend one of the three showings of a talent show or a half-hour of movies; view the television or buy two used comic books. Adults were charged 10 cents. Tea and cookies were served with many having their tea cup read. Halloween and Christmas novelty candles were sold and there was a sale of used skates.

Proceeds from the fair will be used to purchase books for public school libraries. Members of the Home and School association, both teachers and parents, staffed the booths, served refreshments and supervised the fair. The association's appreciation is extended to the following for their assistance: Stewart Beare, Dixon Pencil Co., T. Eaton Co., St. Lawrence Starch Co., Ken Russell, Metropolitan Life Insurance Co., Earl Graham and the caretaker of the King George school, Mr. Fairey. Plans are underway for another Fun Fair next year.

SKATES SELL WELL AT FUN FAIR

The sale of used skates held as one feature of the first annual Fun Fair by the Newmarket Home and School association proved very successful. This is one of the many services which this group provides for the community.

Over 175 pairs of skates were placed at the Fun Fair with more than half of them being sold. The association retained 25 cents from each sale.

Both figure skates and hockey skates were included in the sale and sizes ranged from tiny lots of ones and twos to adult sizes.

Many parents welcomed the opportunity to sell junior's outgrown skates rather than having them remain unused at home. Purchasers were equally pleased to buy skates, in excellent condition at such reasonable prices.

News Of NEWMARKET LEGION

The zone cribbage and dart tournament is well under way, and with nearly all of our ten branches entering teams, it has the appearance of being a real competitive session. You can still join to replace those members who find themselves with previous commitments. So give your name to Sports Officer Hisey. Fees are 10c an evening. It's once a week and home and home games in our zone. Zone Sports Officer Roney has done a grand job of lining up this tournament. Good work "Chic".

The Ladies' Auxiliary will be happy to know that the kitchen needs only a bit of trim and paint to be completely finished. Comrade Aubrey Seythes and his few helpers have done a marvellous job in this short time—even to the heating, wiring, installation of the electric stove and sink—all ready to use.

The flag-pole is up, fellows. It looks darn good too. Mr. A. J. Davis is the donor. He has our heartfelt thanks as this, among other things, has been a much-needed item by our Legion ever since its inception.

If you are able to attend the big district meeting at Collingwood on Sunday, Oct. 21, give your name to President Fred Gardiner as soon as possible.

The next zone meeting will be at Stouffville on Wednesday, Nov. 7.

Bell Issues New, Fuller Directory For District

The new district Bell Telephone directories which were mailed to customers last week, contain listings for subscribers in ten new exchanges.

The October, 1951, book contains listings for subscribers in Clarendon, King, Maple, Markham, Richmond Hill, Schomberg, Thornhill, Unionville, Uxbridge and Woodbridge, in addition to Aurora, Roche's Point and Sutton. All other listings formerly included in the Newmarket directory will be published in a separate directory for Brampton-Orangeville to be issued early in November.

C. E. Blosdale, local Bell Telephone manager, said this week that changes made in the new directory will provide telephone subscribers here with a more convenient book for local calling, in view of the steady increase in the number of telephones in Newmarket and other nearby centres. All the exchanges listed were selected on the basis of their inter-community interests.

Containing more than 8,000 new and changed listings, the new book is easily distinguishable from the old green-covered book by its buff cover. A sufficient quantity of the new directories has been printed for all present telephone subscribers and for the estimated number of new customers during the next 12 months.

On the front cover of the new book is a notice in red to remind subscribers not to use the directory for Schomberg calls until after 2 p.m. Wednesday, October 17, because the exchange there is being converted from magneto to common battery operation and many new numbers will be effective after that date.

Because of the many new and changed listings, Mr. Blosdale urged subscribers to check any personal lists of telephone numbers against the numbers listed in the new book and to make any changes that are necessary.

"Looking up the desired number before calling," the manager said, "helps to avoid the possibility of getting wrong numbers and saves time for both the calling and the called parties. 'Information' should be called only when the number you are seeking is not listed in the directory," he added.

One of the 50 telephone directories published each year by The Bell Telephone Company of Canada for hundreds of centres, both large and small, in its Ontario-Quebec territory, the new book for subscribers here also contains helpful information as to the use of the telephone and long distance rates to many out-of-town points. Space is provided on page one for the listing of emergency numbers.

Our readers write

Letters to the editor are always welcome but the names of the writers must be known to the editor.

The Editor: In a few days the citizens of Newmarket will once more be asked to remember the dead of two world wars by wearing a poppy and, where possible, by displaying a wreath in places of business, churches, schools, and in the windows of their homes.

When we display these emblems of remembrance made by the hands of disabled veterans who offered themselves in our defence, we remind ourselves and our children of the terrific price that has been paid for our freedom, and also show the world that these heroes and what they died for shall never be forgotten by us.

The funds contributed by the public provide employment for disabled veterans, help veterans and the widows and orphans of veterans to obtain their just recognition in the form of pensions and allowances through the Canadian Legion service bureau, and also provide our local Legion branch with welfare funds which are used to assist veterans and their dependents of this town, who are in distressed circumstances.

The Newmarket branch of the Canadian Legion appreciates the generosity and cooperation of our citizens in the past and as chairman of the 1951 Poppy Day Campaign in this community I solicit your wholehearted support.

Yours sincerely,
Wm. LaParde.

Keswick Man Covers Royal Tour By Camera

Ted Leonard, Keswick, one of the Toronto Star photographers who has been working for his paper on the Royal tour, has some interesting regulations to stick to when covering their Royal Highnesses.

Photographers cannot go within fifteen feet of the Royal couple. They cannot speak to them, and can only speak when spoken to. Then they must reply correctly and briefly. Correctly means to reply "Your Royal Highness" at first, then "M'am" or "Sir". Photographers cannot ask the Royal couple to pose, turn their head, look toward the camera, or do anything else. Photographers must wear suits, and must be in position before the procession arrives.

Even news photographers and reporters cannot break through police lines once the procession arrives and during passing. If perchance a close-up picture of the couple is obtainable, the reflector of the flash gun must be covered by a shield, in event the flash bulb breaks and scatters glass in their direction.

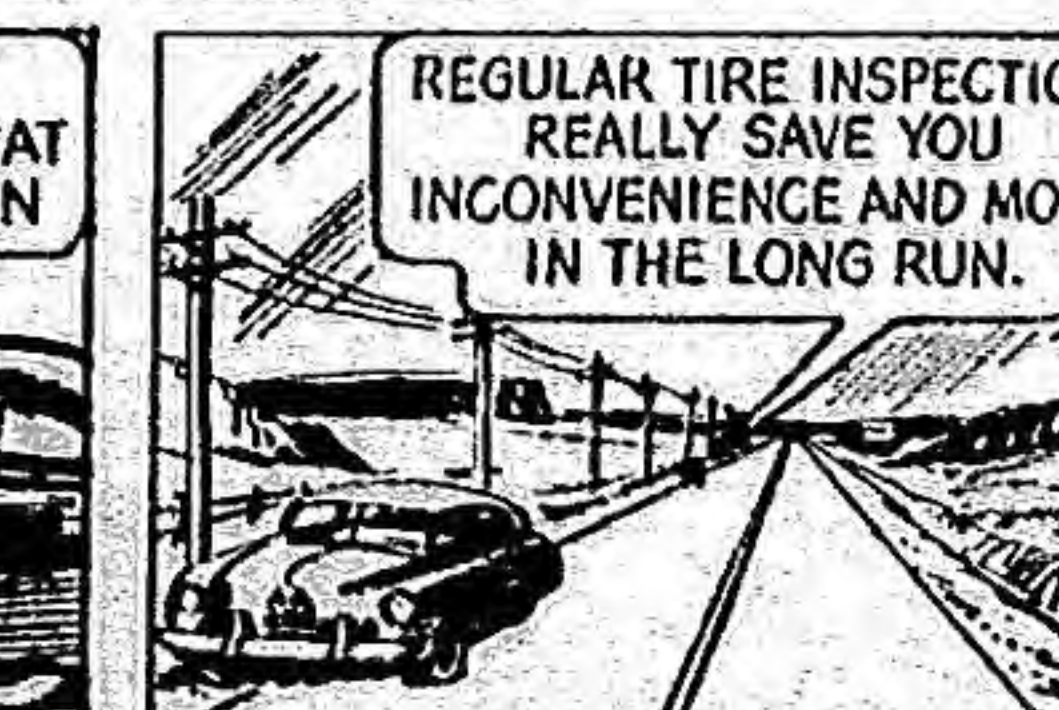

If the Royal couple chance to step in the direction of reporters and photographers, and appear to be coming through, the news men must promptly step aside. In this case the fifteen feet rule doesn't apply, and photographers are all hoping that in these little involuntary movements of the Royal couple, the chance will present itself for some really good close-up pictures.

Ted Leonard says that all news photographers have been briefed, and equipped with passes and badges. Mr. Leonard's pass is in French, and is for the entire tour.

Afterward a christening supper was held at the home of the child's parents on Dalecrest Dr. More than a dozen were present and a lovely christening cake graced the table, the gift of Mr. and Mrs. R. ## Revisits Old Scenes

Mr. Norman Carmichael, over 70 years old, a retired Scottish farmer of Carleton Place, paid a recent visit to his cousin, Mrs. Wm. Boys of Lasky. With him was his son Fergus and his wife, Mr. Carmichael, a nephew of the beloved late Rev. Dr. James Carmichael, minister of Strange Presbyterian church for 50 years, hails from the same Scotch settlement at Carleton Place where Rev. James Carmichael received his "call" to the King charge. His Scotch accent is delightful to hear, said his hostess.

The visitor inquired for many of the old families, the Ross's of Strange and the Tawse family at Eversley. Fergus Carmichael, resembles the old doctor's son who died two days after he had completed his medical course at Queen's University many years ago. Those were sad days for the manse at Strange, the Presbyterian congregations and the home community about Strange and Lasky.

Mr. Carmichael visited the stone church and saw the monument in Strange cemetery marking the grave of his illustrious uncle, who was ordained in St. Andrew's church in 1860. The visit was just prior to the 114th anniversary of Strange congregation. About 15 years ago Mr. Carmichael paid a visit to this locality.

Youth Sunday Observed

The fireside service at All Saints' Anglican church on Sunday evening was in recognition of Youth Sunday. Mr. Gordon Tetley, lay reader, gave the sermon, speaking on Faith and Service. George Hatley Jr. and Ross Rawlings read the scripture lessons. A group of 12, all Sunday school teachers from the Church of Epiphany, Toronto, was present. Mr. Stan Izons was soloist and is the leading tenor of the Epiphany choir.

During the fireside hour of fellowship in the parish room, Mr. Izons sang a hymn, the theme of which is "Less of Self and All of These." Four of the visiting worshippers analyzed each of the four verses of the hymn showing how they had become followers of Christ. A vocal trio sang, followed by refreshments served by the Girls' Auxiliary.

Presentations

Mrs. Harry Edwards and Donald Rawlings were presented with gifts in honor of their services to All Saints. A leather-bound large print prayer book and hymnary was given to Mrs. Edwards by the members of the choir which she had served for the past 35 years. To Donald Rawlings, church organist, was given a leather-bound Bible from the congregation and a prayer book from the choir.

The visitors from Epiphany church were entertained to dinner early in the evening at the rectory by Mrs. GordonB Tetley, assisted by Mrs. Ross Walker. Mary Jane Walker and Donald Rawlings, Miss Eva Meen, a retired Toronto school teacher, was one of the guests. She had taught Mrs. Tetley in public school and was also a Sunday school teacher there when Carol Beggs and Gordon Tetley were young people of the church. They were married in Epiphany.

House Accident Painful Mrs. John C. Belknap suffered a fractured right fore-finger and two broken ribs last Friday when she accidentally fell in her home. She has suffered a great deal of pain and discomfort, but is improving.

First Film Release of Princess' Bible Seen at King

An audience at King saw the first release of a colored film showing the "Open Bible", the gift of the Upper Canada Bible Society to Her Royal Highness, Princess Elizabeth, during her Toronto tour. Her father, King George VI is the patron of the parent British and Foreign Bible Society organization.

The photographed Bible was seen at King United church on Oct. 11, at the annual meeting of King branch of the Bible Society, conducted by Rev. Keys, Toronto, field worker of the Upper Canada Bible Society. Rev. W. E. Smalley, president of the local society, was chairman. Miss Alice Ferguson, secretary-treasurer of King branch, attended and the visiting choir of Temperanceville United and Maple Presbyterian churches greatly appreciated.

Reviewing the early history of the church, Mr. Burch said the congregation was founded in 1837. The church was given the name "Strange" from a Dr. Strange, a member of parliament who had lived in the district.

The Royal Tour

Toward the end of six hours or more of standing in Queen's Park on Saturday, in a line of 12 persons deep, one is almost inclined to relax in a keen desire to see Princess Elizabeth and the Duke of Edinburgh. Happily one does not have to fatigue only half a sandwich in the last eight hours. As for everybody else, the good-nature of the crowd, the friendly R.C.M.P. guard, the gentle motion of superb royal banners, the surges of patriotic fervor and the exhilarating anticipation of seeing the Royal couple, obliterate all else. You stay put, thankful for a view within four feet of the Royal pair. The only persons we envied were press photographers who could sit on the green grass near the parliament buildings between the two appearances of the Princess and the Duke.

We saw Their Highnesses at 12.15 opposite the west entrance of the parliament buildings as they walked briskly from the ceremonial welcome at Hart House. At 3.15 afternoon, we saw them again, descending the steps from the Lieutenant-Governor's suite to mount their waiting car. When the smiling Princess, slightly shy, but beautiful, walked past, her measured pace revealed the buoyancy of her slim young body. Every movement and gesture, modest and simple, is her natural response to the devotion and admiration of Canadians. The prince comes and conquers, not for himself but of himself.

When the Royal couple were departing the scene, the flashing smile of the Princess and the broad smile of her consort, in their more leisurely leave-taking, brought the crowds to the point of breath-taking affection. In the ear, the Duke leaned down to her in the tumult of shouting, and said something to her. She answered with a school-girl smile. Her eyes, clear blue like the sky of Saturday afternoon were full of happiness.

The throngs of people loved it when the querry brought the Princess' Canadian mink jacket and her huge bouquet of purple orchids. They loved the scene when the Duke sat down beside her and they both waved hands. It is the simple unceremonious things that draw loud applause in the midst of royal procedure. They are doing a grand job. Perhaps they are least conscious of how it is being done. Canadians are having a wonderful time. A wait for any number of hours is worth a view of the Princess and the Duke.

Mrs. Euphemia McCutcheon of Pasadena, Calif., returned this week to her home there after visiting her mother, Mrs. Nesbitt, who lives at the home of Mrs. Lenhart. Mrs. McCutcheon made her headquarters at the home of Miss Jessie Gellatly. She last paid a visit to her mother at Christmastide.

Mrs. T. L. Williams was guest speaker today (Thursday) at Bess Presbyterian W.M.S. at the thanksgiving meeting held at the home of Mrs. Kitchener, West King.

Dr. and Mrs. Harvey Gellatly of Fort William left on Saturday after a visit with his sister, Miss Jessie Gellatly, and a brother, Allan of King, and sister, Mrs. A. Smith of Toronto. Dr. Gellatly's daughter, Marion, is taking an honor course at McMaster University, Hamilton, and joined them here for Thanksgiving.

At Hospital W. A. Tra

Mrs. Ivan Specht, Mrs. T. L. Williams, Miss Kay Clark, Reg. R., were present at an afternoon tea on Oct. 11, at the home of Mrs. Lowell Dale, Newmarket, sponsored by York County Hospital Women's Auxiliary.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Hatcliffe, son Philip and his wife of Toronto motored to Pine Lodge at Port Sydney, Muskoka, for a very pleasant weekend over Thanksgiving.

Mr. and Mrs. Andy Crawford, Guelph, Miss Nora Savoury, New York City, were recent visitors of Mr. George Hatley, Mrs. Crawford's brother. Nora, a cousin in the Hatley family, is well remembered by many King friends, having spent a great deal of time at King when the Hatley family lived at Lake Madoc farm.

Mrs. E. Cooper of Toronto visited her friend, Miss Marjorie Jarvis and was with her at King Women's Institute birthday night last week. Miss Cooper, who lived in England for many years, is staying with her brother and children but one day hopes to live again in England. Like so many who return to Canada, she speaks of the rather leisurely pace the English folk follow, taking things in their stride. Miss Cooper now finds Toronto a bustling city, everyone in the family rushing about to get ahead of time.

114th Anniversary

St. Andrew's Presbyterian church of Strange was decorated with colorful autumn flowers for the observance of its 114th anniversary on Sunday when Rev. Edgar Burch, minister from Mimico, was the guest preacher. He had ministered the charge for four years until April, 1941. Both services were fairly well attended and the visiting choir of Temperanceville United and Maple Presbyterian churches greatly appreciated.

Reviewing the early history of the church, Mr. Burch said the congregation was founded in 1837. The church was given the name "Strange" from a Dr. Strange, a member of parliament who had lived in the district.

"The church is facing an era of change, and Christians are facing difficult days," he stated. From an intensive study of the relation between the communist belief and the Christian church, Mr. Burch is convinced there will never be peace. "We must face facts," he said.

Maple choir of 13 voices sang two inspiring anthems.

Mr. Sid Stevenson was tenor soloist in the anthem, "O Clap Your Hands Together." Mrs. Victor Orr was also soloist and Miss Joanne Johnston took the obbligato part in the stirring anthem, "Hark My Soul" by Shelley. Miss Johnston, possessing a beautiful lyric soprano voice, sang the solo "Green Pastures" by Wilfred Sanderson. Mrs. Eldon Wade was organist.

12th Birthday of King W.I.

The 12th anniversary of the King City W.I. on Oct. 9 in King United church basement brought forth four gentlemen, Kay Campbell and Eric Wells, public school children, Stephen Jarvis, Tim Grew and Suzanne Grew, high school students. Mrs. Doris Hollinshead Wiloughby of Washago, a former Institute member here, and Miss E. Cooper of Toronto were also guests. If anything, the visitors stole a good share of the show, especially the men's foursome. The young boys acted as helpers to Miss Marjorie Jarvis, director of the play enacted by the branch dramatic club. What the evening lacked in family guests, it made up in enjoyment. Mrs. Colin Stewart, district director, was chairman.

A song fest of familiar tunes began with Canada's patriotic songs. Mrs. Fred Dent directed the singing and Mrs. D. Rawlings was piano accompanist. The presentation of a playlet entitled "In the Suds," found a ready market for laughs.

The scene of the comedy is set in a French peasant kitchen of medieval times. The costumes were an amusing feature of the play, especially when they were worn by three of the W.I. dramatic club players. Mrs. Gordon Wells was Jacqueline, the depressed, down-trodden husband of a nagging, tyrannical wife. Mrs. A. E. Jarvis played Jeanette, his mother-in-law, who aids and abets her daughter.

The husband gets his rightful revenge as the result of a household accident which almost causes his wife's death in a tub of soap suds. Triumphant he becomes master of his house, and like all good husbands accepts his wife's promised devotion and his mother-in-law's humble adoration. The play is directed by Miss Marjorie Jarvis and Mrs. J. L. Grew is prompter. The branch will present the farce at Gormley Institute on Oct. 25, when King City is guest of that organization.

Another entertaining part of the evening's program was a radio quiz. At the "studio," Mrs. Ivan Specht interviewed contestants winning for 12 cent prizes (the birthday number) and the questions were asked by Mrs. Burwell Jackson. The scene was full of pep and fun. The jackpot was won by Mrs. Roy Hollinshead and Mrs. E. Johnston.

The main items on the business agenda were appointment of Mrs. T. L. Williams as delegate to the area convention to replace Mrs. Jas. Rock who will be unable to attend, and the announcement that those wishing to visit Gormley W.I. on Oct. 25 contact Mrs. A. E. Jarvis, the president.

Three Birthday Cakes

Three large decorated angel food cakes, made by Mrs. Aubrey Campbell, surprised even the president and gave the finished birthday touch to the party. They were adorned with touches of red on white frosting, with the 12th anniversary done in silver. Mrs. Humble and Mrs. Hollinshead helped out with part of the ingredients. Each cake took the whites of a dozen eggs.

King Students Elected

George Hatley of King and Rena Marshall of Kettleby were elected Head Boy and Head Girl of Aurora high school at elections of the student council last week, following a three-day campaign conducted in a spirited and friendly manner. George was opposed by David Bachly. Miss Marshall, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Marshall, was opposed by Mary Rose of Aurora, and Betty Scott, King R. R. 2.

Nineteen years of age, George is the son of Mr. and Mrs. George Hatley of Eaton Hall Farm and returned to school in September to complete his senior matriculation. Apart from his popularity among fellow students, George qualified for the post as a good athlete, a keen cadet, has joined the Glee Club this year and is an ardent rugby player. George is whole hearted in his endeavors. This summer he was hired to drive a truck from Toronto to Edmonton and with a school chum found work there with the Imperial Oil Co., working in the oil fields. He barely got back when high school opened. He has set his ambition toward university next year.

Kingscraft On Oct. 24

Kingscraft Guild will meet at the home of Mrs. W. H. Denton, con. 3, on Wednesday afternoon, Oct. 24, at 2.15. Mr. Spencer Clark, head of the Guild of All Arts, will be the special speaker. It will be the annual meeting of the Guild.

(Held from last week)

Nobleton Break-ins

Homes were broken into during the weekend at Nobleton. The residence of Percy Hill was ransacked Saturday night and $200 in cash stolen. Marilyn and Edwin, children of Mr. Hill, lost their piggy banks and cash belonging to Nobleton United Sunday school was taken by thieves who climbed on the garage and used an axe to break the lock on an upstairs window. No one was at home at the time.

Widow Returns to England

Mrs. May Fernley and her 23 year-old son Brian are on their way back to England aboard the Empress of France which sailed from Montreal last Friday morning. It is a sad voyage for Mrs. Fernley, widowed in August when the husband, Stewart Fernley, 32, was instantly killed in a motor accident in Toronto, just four months after the family had left their Manchester home to live in Canada. They will live with a sister, Mrs. Wm. Hall, at Manchester where Mrs. Fernley's brother and another sister are also residing.

The cremated ashes of the war veteran, who served the R.A.F. during the last war, are to be forwarded to England for burial. Married six years, Mrs. Fernley had formerly served in England's land army. They came to Newmarket first to reside with Mr. and Mrs. Fred Ainsworth. In July, the families moved to Strange to live in the MacMurry home.

Sgt. D. O. Judd and his wife are calling their new son Stephen Leslie. Born October 2 in York County hospital, Newmarket, he was 6 lbs., 14 oz. at birth. Sgt. Judd, who is taking a special course at Camp Borden, was able to motor back and forth at the time of the birth. Glenn, Carol and Dales are their other children.

Makes Sacred Banner

A white slipper satin banner, fringed in gold, used in the Holy Name Society parade held at St. Michael's Cathedral, Toronto, on Sunday, and carried by a representative from Our Lady of Grace Roman Catholic church, Aurora, was made by Mrs. Arthur Fleet of King. A picture of the Virgin Mary was painted in oils on the standard by an Aurora man.
